MIFFLIN NYA CAMP BECOMES GIRL CENTER

100 Men Now Being Trained There To Be Transferred To Mt. Logan.

CONVERSION JUNE 1

Expanded Program in Defense Training, Recreation Set Up in New Plan.

In line with the government's program to train girls for shop work to fill vacancies created by military enlistments and the draft, the National Youth Administration resident center at Mifflin Lake will be converted entirely to a training center for girls on June 1, it was announced today.

A score of girls have been receiving training at the center for the last two weeks, remaining there only during the hours of instruction during the day. However, after June 1, the trainees will live at the center as well as receive instructions there.

The 100 men now receiving training at the center will be transferred to the Mt. Logan resident center at Chillicothe and the Muskingum center at Carrollton before June 1, it was announced by Thomas C. Jenkins, director of the center eight miles east of Mansfield.

The girl students will live in the four barracks at the NYA center, and will be under supervision of a matron at each building. A recreational and athletic program is being worked out for hours outside of classes.

A similar school for girls is in operation under NYA auspices at Ironton, but it is on a considerably smaller scale than that to be established here. The Mifflin center will accommodate up to 100 girls, Jenkins said.

Training will be provided in machine shop practice, sheet metal work, auto mechanics, radio, and welding.

The instruction is available to girls from 17 to 25. Girls interested in receiving the training may apply directly to Jenkins, or to their local NYA office or state employment office, the superintendent said.

Huston Announces For Common Pleas Judge Re-Election

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston officially became a candidate for re-election today as his friends began circulating nominating petitions in his behalf throughout the county.

"At this particular time, everyone should do the thing that he's best fitted to do, and I believe that my experience qualifies me to continue as judge of the common pleas court", Judge Huston said.

He is the first to announce for the office. He is completing his second six-year term. A veteran of two wars, Judge Huston served with Co. M. in the Spanish-American war and was a major in the first World war.

Police Learn Spies Land On Maine Coast

Fifth Column Blamed In Sinking of U. S. Ship In Gulf of Mexico.

(By Associated Press)

AUGUSTA, Me. — Francis H. Farnum, state director of civilian defense, said today that "accurate information is in the possession of police and army authorities to show that foreign agents have recently been landed on the coast of Maine."

"Others have come into the state over the Canadian border or from other parts of the United States," Farnum said in a prepared statement. "They are here for no good purpose and they are in our midst now. They come to plot, to damage, to destroy."

Yesterday civilians and members of the volunteer defense corps were warned by United States and state officials in Boston to exercise especial watchfulness for enemy and fifth column action along the New England coast.

Farnum warned it was "entirely possible the enemy may attempt to land parachutists or other air-borne troops in Maine" and added that "an attempt may even be made to organize bands of fifth columnists."

He urged the public to be watchful, "think before you act, but act instantly if your suspicions cannot be fully satisfied."

GET YOUR POPPY

Thousands of Them To Be On Sale Tomorrow.

Downtown Mansfield will be bright with poppies Saturday morning when the American Legion auxiliary launches its first war time poppy sale to obtain funds for rehabilitation work among service men and their families.

Made by veterans at the Sandusky Soldiers and Sailors' Home, the poppies, 12,000 of them, will be placed on sale by the auxiliary this year not only to aid the families of service men in World War 1, but those of men in the current conflict. Half the number have already been placed in Mansfield industries for sale among the workers.

More than 100 Boy Scouts and Junior auxiliary members will conduct the sale and be luncheon guests of the auxiliary when they make their reports at the Legion home Saturday noon.

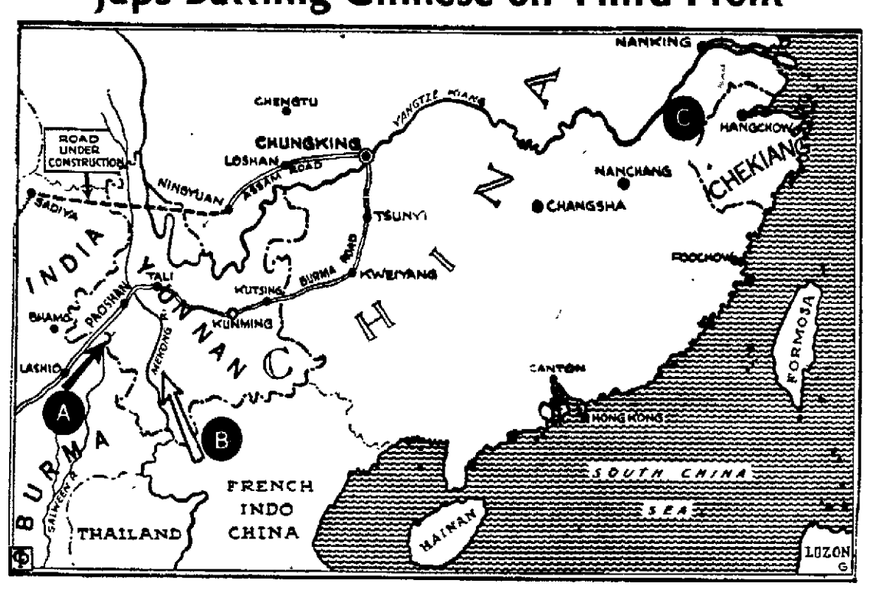
Japs Battling Chinese on Third Front



Battles were raging fiercely today along a 200-mile front, third the Japanese have opened within the past few weeks in what is apparently an all-out attempt to knock China out of the war. The third front (shown at C on the above map) is in Chekiang province where the Japs yesterday landed heavy reinforcements and shelled Foochow. Earlier thrusts are being developed (A) on the Burma road, and (B) northward from French Indo-China into Yunnan.

SOUNDS PLEA AS BONDS LAG HERE

Eliot Urges Mansfield and County to Step Up Buying; Richland Behind.

An appeal for Richland county residents to step up their war bond purchases immediately in order to reach the May quota was issued today by Paul M. Eliot, county bond sale chairman, when a report from the War Savings Staff for Ohio showed that Richland is running behind many other counties in the state.

The report revealed that Richland county's bond sales for the first half of May totalled $111,892, considerably less than half of the county quota of $295,200 for the month. Sales throughout Ohio totalled $17,299,000—better than half of the state quota of $31,768,000.

Twenty-four of the state's 88 counties are already "over the top" in reaching their May quotas, the report showed. These included Erie, Holmes, Huron, Knox, and Morrow counties. Ten other counties were within a few dollars of their month quotas.

Eliot pointed out that purchases by Richland county residents have frequently been higher in the second half of a given month, but stressed that a greatly intensified

Vichy Announces Loss of Sub With 24 Officers, Men

VICHY —(INS)— The French Admiralty today announced the loss of the submarine Le Heros and 24 officers and men of her crew.

The French submarine participated in the defense of the Dego, Suarez naval base on the Indian Ocean Island of Madagascar.

Loss of the submarine Beveziers in the Madagascar action had been announced previously.

The Heros, carrying a normal complement of 67 officers and men, was commissioned in October, 1932. She was 302½ feet long with a beam of 27 feet. On the surface she displaced 1,379 tons.

She was one of the same class as the Beveziers, a type of craft with which the French had much success.

SHOW DELAYED

Physical Ed Demonstration Postponed Until Monday.

Threating weather today forced postponement of tonight's scheduled second annual Mansfield school physical education demonstration at Stadium field until Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Physical Director Harry Mehock welcomed the postponement, explaining that weather had prevented rehearsals by nearly 1,000 of the 4,200 children appearing in the big outdoor show.

Among those who have been unable to rehearse on the Stadium field turf are the junior high pupils who have an important part in the climax of the demonstration. Mehock said he hopes that between now and Monday evening they'll be able to go over their part of the program.

'Ready to Be Convinced' on Plan for Withholding Wages

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The house ways and means committee today appeared willing to be convinced of the merit of a treasury proposal to collect part of this year's income tax in advance by "withholding" 10 per cent of each wage and salary earner's taxable income.

The treasury proposed the plan as a sure-fire method of collecting new war income taxes, which for most Americans will be at least twice as high as at present, and as an additional brake on inflation.

The plan also is designed to make it easier for tax payers to meet their annual debt to Uncle Sam. In some brackets it would mean when the income tax date arrives—if the plan were in operation a full year—nearly half of the bill already would be paid through "painless" weekly deductions.

The treasury's plan is not an additional tax. It is simply a method of collecting part of the income tax in advance and through deductions from each pay check.

The plan would be administered in a manner similar to that used to collect social security taxes. The employer would deduct the money from the pay check and turn it over to the treasury. The employe would not receive the money,

MEXICO NEARING WAR WITH AXIS

President Expected to Issue Proclamation; Nazis Reject Protest on Sinking.

(By United Press)

MEXICO CITY — Mexico appeared on the verge of a declaration of war against Germany, Italy and Japan today, indignant about their refusal to accept a sharply-worded protest over the torpedoing of a Mexican ship by an Axis submarine last week.

President Manuel Avila Camacho issues a proclamation today which probably will urge the nation to prepare for war, a high government source said.

The government had set last midnight as a deadline for an Axis reply to Mexico's ultimatum demanding an explanation for the sinking of the tanker Portrero Del Llano off the Florida coast with the loss of 14 lives. The foreign office issued the following statement:

"The German government has refused to receive the Mexican note . . . the president of the republic will decide what is to be done to avenge the national honor. It is understood, although no communication has been received, that the actions of the governments of Italy and Japan were the same."

Camacho was expected to call a special session of congress to consider a war declaration. It was believed he would forego the customary cabinet meeting, putting the war action directly

268 TO SHARE $24,120 VOTED IN INCREASE

New Salary Schedule, Passed at Special Meeting, Takes Effect Sept. 1.

SETS UP CONTRACTS

All Principals, 201 Teachers and Supervisors Extended Offer to Return.

Salary increases of $90 annually for each of the 268 principals, teachers, and salaried employes of the Mansfield schools were voted unanimously by the board of education at a special meeting late yesterday.

The pay increases, totaling $24,120 a year, will go into effect next Sept. 1. The raises will be in addition to increments amounting to $6,350 which will be paid to teachers under a plan adopted last year by the board.

At the same time the board extended the contracts of the principals of all the city's 13 schools and 201 supervisors and teachers. Thirty-five supervisors and teachers were awarded continuing contracts for the first time after attaining the required training and experience.

Supt. W. L. Miller said the contracts will be mailed to teachers Monday with a request that they be returned on or before May 29. He said any vacancies will be filled after that date.

The board's action in granting pay increases was seen as a victory for the Mansfield Teachers association which for the past six months has sought raises to meet rising living costs.

All five members of the board have agreed from the beginning, however, that the teachers deserved increases but the board saw no way to grant them without en-

RAPS RAISES

FDR Says U. S. Will Oppose Private Pay Boosts.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt declared today that the government would do everything it could to prevent what he termed unwarranted pay increases by private plants.

A half dozen steps might be taken, the president said, but he did not enumerate any of them to his press conference.

He remarked efforts would be made to keep private plants in line with the general policy of wage stabilization as a result of a question about an Aircraft company in Southern California which was willing to raise wages. Asked whether that would conflict with his program to hold down living costs, Mr. Roosevelt said he thought it would because we could not have one plant granting raises which would make workers in other plants unhappy.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS) —President Roosevelt today directed all males in the age brackets 18 and 19 to register on June 30, but under existing law they will not be liable for draft until 20.

The proclamation also ordered all youths who have reached their 20th birthday since Feb. 16 to register at the same time.

Mr. Roosevelt's action automatically completes the span of registration allowed by the 18-to-64 draft law, previous registration having blanketed all other classifications.

Russians Push Ahead In Sharp Night Fighting

Smash Main Defense Fortifications at Ukraine City; Kerch Fighting Spreads; 1,000 Germans Reported Slain In Two-Day Battle at Kalinin.

(By International News Service)

MOSCOW—The Germans defending Kharkov are "beginning to crack," the Red army newspaper Red Star said today as an official communique described the repulse of new Nazi counter-attacks with heavy enemy losses in men and equipment.

In a front-line dispatch dated Friday afternoon, the Moscow newspaper Izvestia said:

"Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's offensive continues with unabated force.

"The Russians continue to forge ahead through every German defense."

A Nazi tank attack on another sector, the Russians said, was repulsed and 200 Germans killed. Large numbers of tanks and other equipment were destroyed by the Soviet forces.

Fierce engagements were fought on the Kharkov front throughout the night, the high command said.

"Fighting continues on the eastern half of the Kerch peninsula," the communique stated.

(Editor's Note—There was no further explanation of the battling in the Kerch sector but the wording of today's communique indicated the possibility that besieged Russian forces had spread the battle lines in counter-thrusts against the Germans. During the past two days the official Soviet communique said only that fighting was in progress in "the area of the town of Kerch," at the extreme eastern tip of the peninsula. But the latest communique spoke of fighting on "the eastern half" of the peninsula.)

The Russian armies moving on Kharkov smashed through the Nazis' main defense fortifications and furious engagements developed in open fields.

An inner ring of German "hedge hog" units reportedly was still holding out in one of the principal defense sectors but was said to be encircled and in danger of being wiped out.

Russian Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's troops were said to be maintaining their advance on the Ukraine capital, key industrial and communications city, at the rate of seven miles a day.

Reports from the Izyum-Barvenkovo front said the Germans had lost between 400 and 500 new tanks in a desperate effort to extend the fighting line and divert the Russian advance on Kharkov.

Progress was made by the Russians on several sectors and seven key points were said to have been taken from the Germans. On one sector the Germans were reported driven from

Long War Ahead, Don't Be Too Optimistic, Roosevelt Warns

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt reiterted today opinion the war would be a long one and cautioned against over-optimism one week and over-pessimism the next.

The war, public opinion and the news go up and down with things that appear big at the moment, he told a press conference, but the more that can be done to prevent this, the better it is for the war effort.

It is a great mistake to overstate things, the chief executive declared, adding that he thought the press could help.

"Do you think censorship should pass bad news?" he was asked.

Yes, he replied, as soon as it does not affect military operations. There is only one reason for withholding bad news, he said, and that is that to release it might create more bad news.

BAGGED: Jap Cruiser, 2 Cargo Ships Sunk by U. S. Submarines

(By United Press)

MELBOURNE—Allied naval forces, in their first action since the battle of the Coral sea, have sunk a 7,100-ton 8-inch gun Japanese cruiser and two supply ships totalling 15,000 tons, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Indicating that American submarines did the job, MacArthur said the enemy ships, a cruiser of the Kako class, with 604 officers and men, a 9,000-ton cargo vessel and a 6,000-ton cargo vessel, were sunk "in an underwater action."

MacArthur announced also that United States and Australian planes, flying through almost impossible weather, had destroyed or damaged eight Japanese planes in one of their most ferocious raids on the Japanese invasion base at Lae, New Guinea.

He revealed, too, that in their raid Wednesday on Koepang, in Timor island, Allied planes had destroyed three enemy planes and damaged three.

Though no details were given of the Allied naval success, it was understood that a submarine had returned to base after sinking the three enemy ships.

A headquarters spokesman refused to say whether the action

CLAIM: Italians Report Subs Attack, Sink U. S. Battleship

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Reuter's (British) news agency today reported a special Italian communique claiming that Italian submarines have attacked an American naval formation.

The communique went on to claim that a battleship of the Maryland class had been torpedoed and sunk.

(Editor's Note: There was no confirmation of the Italian claim in any reliable source. It is typical of Axis propaganda to make such claims in an effort to bolster home morale and endeavor to determine the actual location of United Nations naval units. It is the policy of the United States and British governments neither to confirm nor deny such assertions.)

The communique, stating that the engagement had taken place off the coast of Brazil, said:

"Off the coast of Fernando De Noronha (an island off the Brazilian coast) the submarine Barbarigo commanded by Enzo Grossi attacked a United States naval formation steaming to the south.

dangering the schools' financial set-up.

President H. W. Arlin pointed out yesterday that the teachers did a good job with the sugar rationing registration and have continued on the job with little complaint although the pay average for Mansfield teachers is slightly below that of other Ohio cities of equal size.

The proposal to increase salaries was submitted by Harold Bruce, chairman of the board's budget commission, who said the board will finish this school year in better financial condition than last year and probably will get a larger allocation of funds from the county. Arlin also pointed out that fewer demands for debt payment will leave more money for salaries.

It was the first general increase in Mansfield teachers salaries in the past four years. The boost will amount to approximately seven per cent of the average teacher's salary.

Under the new schedule, the pay of supervisors and teachers in the city schools will range from $1,040 for new members of the staff to $2,790 for the older and more experienced ones.

Twelve of the 13 principals have continuing contracts by virtue of their service as school heads. Jesse Clark, who came to the Western Avenue school last year, is the only one holding a limited contract.

Principals whose contracts continue for another year are Glenn Rohleder, Senior high school; Harry J. Dotson, John Simpson junior high school; G. W. Harmony, Johnny Appleseed junior high school; E. 'Ready to Be Convinced' on Plan for Withholding Wages but would have that much credit when the next income tax deadline arrives.

Treasury Tax Expert Randolph Paul explained yesterday that if congress adopts the withholding principle, one-tenth of a single man's paycheck above $11 a week would be deducted. That is if the ways and means committee's reduced personal exemptions of $500 for single persons, $1500 for married couples and $400 for dependents pass finally.

A married man without children will have 10 per cent of what he earns over $26 a week deducted. For each child or other dependent, the weekly exemption would be increased by $8.50.

If the reduced exemptions and the income tax rates voted by the committee are passed by the house and senate, an employer would deduct $1.40 from the pay check of a childless married employe who earned $40 a week. The deduction for a single person earning $40 a week would be $2.90.

The 10 per cent deduction would be 10 per cent of the taxpayer's income above his personal exemption, not 10 per cent of the tax he would owe on March 15.

Paul estimated that the withholding system would soak up about $2,500,000,000 before it was paid out to workers in the course of a year.

FORMER LIBRARIAN HERE DRAWN INTO STATE LIBRARY DISPUTE

The name of a former librarian of the Mansfield Public library was drawn into the controversy over the resignation of State Librarian Paul A. T. Noon yesterday with the report that Noon had included her as one of several persons sharing expenses, termed "excessive" by State Education Director Kenneth C. Ray.

The former Mansfield librarian is Miss Mildred Sandoe, who supervised the public library here from 1931 through 1935. She is at present a state library organizer in Noon's department.

Noon said traveling expenses for himself, for Miss Sandoe, and the state library averaged $2,611 a year between 1935 and 1941.

The controversy became heated yesterday when two members of the state library board refused to meet with Gov. John W. Bricker and the board recessed until Wednesday without reaching a decision on the resignation.

State Education Director Ray reported that the state librarian had submitted his resignation Feb. 10 effective June 1 after an investigation of Noon's traveling expenses by the state finance director.

Although the board refused Noon's request to withdraw his resignation yesterday, it did not accept it. Joseph E. Hurst, Democrat, of New Philadelphia, a member of the board, said that the matter could not be settled in the governor's office because the board alone had the right to hire and fire the state librarian.

Bricker commented that "a couple of people on the board have been playing politics ever since I have been in here" and said the board had no alternative but to accept the resignation.

"Charges are not at stake," Bricker asserted. "He has resigned and I've asked the board to pick a successor."

SISTERS AND MOTHERS TAKE DRAFTEE JOBS

Work in Aircraft Plant as U. S. Elbows Axis Out of South American Airways.

By BILL BONI
(Wide World Military Editor)

NEW YORK—Three reports from the non-combatant war fronts of the aircraft industry:

The manpower problem—A plan put into operation by the Grumman Aircraft Engineering corporation might smooth the wrinkles in the brows of a good many harried personnel managers.

Grumman turns out the navy's Wildcat fighter with which Lt. Cmdr. "Butch" O'Hare knocked down six Japanese bombers; the Avenger torpedo bomber, of which more is destined to be heard but nothing now may be said, and small and large amphibians used on navy and coast guard patrol duty.

That production job, which has turned out more Wildcats in the first four months of 1942 than in all of 1941 and won for Grumman the coveted navy "E" pennant, now requires some 12,000 workers. (Grumman began in 1929. with fewer than 20 employes and an abandoned Long Island garage as its first plant.)

Leon A. (Jake) Swirbul, general manager, and the company are planning it this way, in cooperation with the government, to cope with any transfer of personnel to the armed forces:

Grumman's personnel records are exceptionally thorough. Not only do they know their workers, but also their workers' backgrounds.

So, when a man is drafted, Grumman tries to get a new worker from that man's family. Maybe his kid brother, but more probably his sister or even his mother. For a number of obvious reasons, it can't be made a blanket policy, but it's being done wherever practical.

Most of the newcomers are women. Counting those in the shops and in the firm's 10 training schools; the plant now employs about 1,000 of them. Like other firms throughout the country in all sorts of war production, Grumman finds them good workers, particularly on routine operations and inspection.

Axing the Axis—Collaboration by the United States state department and U. S. aviation interests has resulted, according to the June issue of the Aeronautical Journel "Flying," in virtual elimination of Germany and Italy as factors in the South American commercial aviation field.

An article by Richard Hubler points out that at the start of the war in September, 1939, German and Italian interests operated or dominated about 28,000 miles of airlines in South America. The United States. through Pan American Airways and its chief affiliate, Pan-American-Grace, operated slightly more than 18,000 miles.

Latest figures, compiled since the magazine went to press, show only 5,000 miles of airlines still under minor German influence because they are using unpaid-for German equipment.

Aerial cargo ships—U. S. aircraft plants, besides turning out combat planes as fast as they can, also are producing aerial cargo ships in growing numbers in an effort to overcome our slow start in developing this particular type of craft. The need for such planes is underscored each time a U-boat picks off another merchant ship.

The army already is using Douglas and Lockheed transport, among others. Newest to join the line will be the Curtiss C-46, so far as is known the largest twin-engined transport in the world. Now being put through taxiing and ground tests, the C-46 is designed to carry troops, field artillery or even army "peeps."

Based on the design of a commercial transport which was to carry 36 passengers in luxury or 44 in comfort, it can be provisioned for flight to any theater of operations. The first of the series, acquired by the army air forces and then turned over to Britain, recently crossed the Atlantic in 9 hours and 40 minutes.

REACHES KIEL

Damaged Cruiser Prinz Eugen Makes Port After Attack.

LONDON —(AP)— The damaged German cruiser Prinz Eugen has arrived at Kiel, it was learned today.

The air ministry announced four days ago that British planes had scored two torpedo hits and one probable hit on the 10,000-ton cruiser off southern Norway the night of May 17. The Prinz Eugen had been at Trondheim under repair after a previous British attack.

Arrival at Kiel, German naval base, indicates that for the second time the cruiser had run a sea blockade to a German port. The vessel was with the battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau in a dash through the English Channel from Brest.

While the common pleas judge is elected on a non-partisan ticket, Judge Huston will file as a Democrat since it requires a much larger number of petition signers to file as an independent, he said.

Active in Richland county political and civic affairs for many years, Judge Huston was county prosecutor from 1903 to 1908. He held no other public office until he was elected common pleas judge.

Considered one of the leading county jurists in the state, Judge Huston was president of the Ohio Association of Common Pleas Judges last year, He is frequently called to other counties to hear cases.

His Richland county court has one of the best records in Ohio for economy and for keeping the court docket up to date, those in court circles say.

What Government Charge Account Regulations Mean to You!

If you are in the habit of paying your charge account in full promptly upon receipt of your monthly statement, the new regulations will not apply to you. You can continue to enjoy the convenience of buying what you want when you want it by simply saying—"charge it."

But—if you let your charge account remain unpaid after the 10th of the second calendar month following the month of purchase, then the Government regulations will apply to you—and you will not be permitted to charge further purchases to your account until the overdue balance is paid.

As for installment accounts: On most items carried by member stores, down payment must be at least ⅓ of the purchase price (furniture and pianos, 20%.) Not more than 12 months, in some instances less, can be allowed for the balance. Payments must be at least $5 per month or $1.25 per week.

Questions arising in the minds of credit customers should be discussed personally with store credit departments. They are prepared to assist you in every possible manner.

The Story Back of Credit Regulation "W":

Retailers and their customers frequently have been called upon to change established habits to help win the war. All have responded to every call—promptly, willingly, patriotically.

Now the nation is called upon to revise credit practices in compliance with governmental order (Regulation "W"), already in effect. The principal details of Regulation W as they apply to a customer are set forth in this advertisement. It suffices to add that it is mandatory upon the retailer and is national in scope.

ORDINANCE NO 42-93

By Mr. Kyle:

An ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of Glenbeck Lane from Park Avenue to the end of the street by grading the street to the established grade and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage etc., and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for said improvement.

Be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring:

Sec. 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Glenbeck Lane from Park Avenue to the end of the street by grading the street to the established grade and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage etc. in accordance with Resolution No. 42-51 passed March 10, 1942 and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

Sec. 2. That all claims for damages resulting therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after completion of the proposed improvement.

Sec. 3. That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections and one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits which may result from the improvement upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, and the remaining portion of the cost of said proposed improvement shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of Glenbeck Lane as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law Eight thousand two hundred ($8200.00) Dollars of Street Assessment Bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in denominations of from fifty to one thousand dollars each, payable in from one to five years, and bearing interest at the rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; payable semi-annually.

That to provide a fund to pay that portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, to-wit: five hundred dollars ($500.00) to be taken from the Registration Fee Fund.

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

An annual levy shall be made during the term of said bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the same and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption as they mature.

Sec. 4. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined. All the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on Glenbeck Lane.

Sec. 5. That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof, together with the moneys received, if any, from the cash payments of assessments, shall be placed in the City Treasury; the accrued interest and premiums shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund, and the remaining portion of the purchase price of said bonds shall be placed to the credit of Glenbeck Lane improvement fund and disbursed upon proper vouchers in payment of the cost and expense of the improvement aforesaid and all moneys coming into said Glenbeck Lane street improvement fund are hereby appropriated for the purpose of said disbursements.

Sec. 6. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids and to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder, according to law.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed May 5, 1942.

REVEAL PROCESS AS BIG WAR AID

Oil Officials Say Discovery Will Spur Synthetic Rubber Manufacture.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The Standard Oil company (New Jersey) has worked out a process by which basic materials for snythetic-rubber and better aviation gasoline can be recovered simultaneously from petroleum, and calls it "the biggest development since we began experimenting with synthetics."

The new process was announced on the heels of a recommendation by Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, that America's synthetic rubber goal be boosted to 1,000,000 tons a year from a scheduled 800,000.

"This process may double or triple the capacity of the plants that are now being built to produce materials for artificial rubber," President W. S. Farish of Standard said in describing the new technique.

Robert P. Russell, a key man in the discovery, said it could be used by refiners using the fluid catalytic or alkalization process with little change in equipment.

Farish said the details had been made available to the federal petroleum co-ordinator and other government agencies, and would be availably generally under the U. S. oil industry's patent licensing plan.

It was emphasized, however, that any increased output would not be sufficient to mean tires for the average motorist at least for the present.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1942.

There's at least a hope that broadening the tax base will prevent heightening the debt ceiling.

After a brief stay in Washington Jimmy Doolittle will probably be glad to get back to the quiet of Shangri-La.

A mid-western naval ordnance plant gave a prize for the best slogan. The winner is good advice for all: "Today, not tomorrow."

New Taxation Bill Taking Form

OUT of the maze of taxation ideas being proposed in congress the only thing that seems assured is that average income taxpayers can figure on being assessed about double the amount of last year's tax—which was from three to four times as much as the preceding year.

While income taxes have heretofore been payable in quarterly installments, if desired, it is natural that efforts should now be made to establish a monthly payment basis, so as to equalize the load throughout the year instead of making it unduly burdensome every three months.

The desirability of saving in advance to meet income tax obligations, which was strongly stressed last year, will apply with even greater emphasis this year, and a savings account established and added to for that particular purpose gives the impression of being a wise precaution. Except in the higher brackets, putting aside around 10 per cent of earnings to pay income tax will probably supply a sufficient reserve to meet this obligation. As income passes the $3,000 mark the percentage of requirement for taxes mounts steadily.

Poppy Is Tomorrow's Flower

OTHER flowers have their seasonal popularity, and many are now beautiful in Mansfield gardens. but for tomorrow it is the poppy that will have first call, in annual observance of Poppy day, which is being locally sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Because of its association with the poem, "In Flanders' Fields," written during the first World war, the poppy was adopted in 1920 as the official memorial flower of the American Legion. On the Saturday preceding Memorial day each year, paper poppies made by disabled war veterans are sold on the streets to provide funds to carry on welfare work among disabled soldiers, their families and the families of those who died.

This year the tribute symbolized by wearing a poppy is extended to include those who have given their lives, or are engaged in battle in many parts of the world.

Of the 13,000,000 poppies that will be worn in the United States tomorrow, 12,000 have been allotted to Mansfield—one of which is for you as you make your contribution.

Those Who Police or Teach

MORE than ordinary seriousness attaches to charges such as those made against an Ohio state reformatory guard who is said by police to have been intoxicated when taken into custody, after allegedly breaking into a Mansfield home, terrifying inmates and later striking a woman.

While there is an assumption of innocence until guilt is proved, it is nevertheless justifiable to point out that a person chosen to serve in any such position of trust performs a distinct disservice by laying himself open to suspicion of such misconduct as is being charged.

Any form of policing, which involves restraint over the conduct of others, necessarily assumes consistent good behavior on the part of persons accepting this responsibility.

While it is not always possible to learn in advance about the character and dependability of applicants for positions in the public service, every effort should be made to avoid choosing weaklings or potential culprits for places of responsibility.

This applies with at least equal emphasis to school systems, where example shares with precept in influencing the lives and conduct of young people, and any behavior on the part of an instructor that is out of accord with reasonable standards of behavior set up for the teaching profession should result in immediate severance of association with school activities.

Local Interest In Hanley Promotion

PROMOTION of Col. Thomas J. Hanley, jr., to the position of brigadier general in the army air corps has more than ordinary interest in Mansfield as a result of the family association here, and the high esteem in which the Hanleys are held by those who know them.

An impression gained on occasions of Col. Hanley's visits to the city is that he measures up in every way to the high standards of character and efficiency demanded of those placed in responsible military positions in time of war.

Also worthy of note is that a grandson of Mansfield's Thomas J. Hanley, Col. Hanley's son, is to be graduated from West Point next Friday, which seems to make double congratulations in order.

Bucyrus Defers Parking Meters

DECISION of Bucyrus city council to defer installation of parking meters for awhile seems to evidence good judgment. Assuming parking meters are intended to prevent traffic congestion and provide money for traffic policing, instead of producing revenue for other purposes, it is unlikely that the next few months will bring any considerable need for meters in the business sections of medium sized cities.

Nor does it seem justifiable to divert metal needed for war purposes to the manufacture of parking meters for installation in additional cities.

Language Serves Vocations

EVERY line of work has its own language, unintelligible to an outsider. This thought came from looking at the financial page of a newspaper and noticing a bulletin of the Boston wool market. Sales were mentioned of "quarter-blood combing bright fleeces in the grease," and of "a little three eighths blood combing of the bright wool class." Fine Australian topmaking wools were bought, it seems, on a "scoured basis."

Somebody doubtless knows what this is all about. It recalls the German who prided himself on his knowledge of all the European languages, and especially of English. He was floored when asked to translate a baseball story.

WHOSE OFFENSIVE IS THIS ANYHOW!

Morganthau Opposes Compulsion

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

TREASURY Secretary Henry Morganthau, jr., has developed since the war began, a streak of liberality that's a surprise to his associates.

There's a perhaps natural tendency on the part of considerable national officialdom to meet the emergency by the adoption of some pretty dictatorial policies. It isn't an inconsistency, either, among office holders who get into positions of authority as outstanding friends of the "peepul" and undoubtedly mean to be so. It is rather notorious, in fact, that that kind of statesmen are historically inclined to boss folk around very peremptorily when they encounter opposition.

Secretary Morgenthau's a New Dealer, of course, or he wouldn't be holding down his present job, but he's generally been regarded, until lately, as an individual of the sort addicted to MAKE other folk agree with him, whether they really DID agree or not.

Instead, he proves to hold the view that voluntary agreement's the most valuable variety.

From the very nature of his cabinet position, he wants all the money he can get. Yet he's been, from the first, exceptionally moderate in his demands for higher taxation. He not only needs the cash, but he's in accord with the theory that squeezing the public as vigorously as it can stand will discourage competitive buying of civilian stuff, as things tighten up, and thus will be a brake on inflation, of which all hands are so fearful.

The Bond Campaign.

Well, plus taxation, there's been a demand for a campaign to sell bonds, up to 10 per cent of everybody's income, less for the sake of the dough than for the purpose of tying it up so completely that bond-buyers will have precious little left to spend for anything else.

Henry's indorsed the bond-buying proposition in principle, but he's opposed making it compulsory.

His contention is that, overwhelmingly, the average American is a patriotic chap, whose investment will EXCEED 10 per cent, if he can make it, provided, he's merely APPEALED to, but who'll be sore it it's a matter of compulsion, and, anyway, it'll stop at 10 per cent; nor will it be that much if he's drained entirely dry ahead of it—for compulsion itself can't make him dig up more than he's got.

President Roosevelt is said to have been for compulsion, originally, but to have been sold on Henry's notion by his treasury chief's arguments.

It was an unexpected angle for a multi-millionaire like Henry Morgenthau to head in from. He surprised quite a lot of his cabinet fellow-members and senators and representatives by doing it.

Henry isn't a bug for wage-freezing, moreover.

On that subject he's rather in a class with William Green of the A. F. of L., and Phil Murray of the C. I. O. Who'd have thought it, in a treasury secretary of his antecedents! Bankers and financiers.

Sees Better Results.

If war bond buying doesn't deliver the goods, on a voluntary basis, Henry says he'll come out for compulsion by about next July, but he wants to give it a trial, because his judgment is that it'll yield better results, besides being more satisfactory to the victims, than the other method.

Taxation, it goes without saying, will be terrible next year.

Reader, you're aware how you were socked last March — twice what you were in 1941. Next March it'll be twice as much as this year's tax. And it'll catch millions of people who weren't caught at that time.

A Runt Grows Up

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HE WAS just a kid "down in the heart of Texas." Even Mom and Dad admitted he was "kinda spindling." The kids weren't as tactful. They summed it up in one scornful phrase and called his "None" because, as his father now explains, "he was so small there was hardly none of him at all." And then "None" became "Nun."

So the spindling little kid grew up as a million little spindlings have grown up before him—shy, colorless, expecting little of life. What chance has a kid they call "Nun"?

And the years went by. And he was no longer an undersized, skinny little runt. He was a grown man at the stick of an airplane with a grown man's fire and fury raging in his soul. For beneath him his comrades were dying, dying under the blast of Jap planes, and regardless of his size something in him rose at that moment . . . rose and towered above his small body, rose in deadly contempt against the murder that was streaking the skies.

Up and up he went, the boy they called "Nun." Up and up above the smoke and the flame, the screeching bombs, the gasps of the dying—up until his wings zoomed above them all and he saw the hell that spread beneath him.

What did he feel or think in that moment? I don't know. I'm not brave enough to know. But I've seen enough bravery to know that he was no longer "Nun" . . . he was a man swept by flame and pity into heroic size. And so he dived!

Dived down and down and down through the breathless vastness of that deadly sky until the smoke and the flame were past and 18 Japanese planes drifted to death in the sea beneath him.

President Roosevelt told the story the other night; the story of a boy who had been called "Nun," yet who, when his hour called, rose beyond all human dimensions.

There's a tremendous comfort and challenge to you and to me in that story. How many of us have been called "Nun!" How many of us have called ourselves "Nun" as we viewed our feeble record!

AND YET THERE IS NOT ONE OF US WHO CANNOT RISE TO THE STATURE OF A GOD WHEN THE MOMENT CALLS.

That is the everlasting mystery and glory of human life. No matter how weak we are, how tired or discouraged or handicapped, there is something in us that knows no shackles, something that rises above all pain and frustration . . . up and up into the sun and down and down into any hell which faces us. For there is something in us that nothing can stop . . . some spark that nothing can extinguish.

The boy they called "Nun" had that spark. And every man and woman and child who walks America today has it too. Regardless of our handicap, we can rise to any heaven, we can face any hell.

Put aside your discouragement, forget your fear or humiliation. Stop remembering that they called you "Nun" too. God will give you wings if you are willing to use them.

Timely Editorial

Convict Production.

In peacetime federal laws and most state laws have driven the men in penitentiaries toward idleness. They have been limited to work on materials that can be used directly by the state.

Everyone connected with penal administration knows that idleness is one of the worst obstacles to reform. It has been forced by labor groups, manufacturers of products that might run into penitentiary competition and sentimental outsiders.

Now the war will call many convicts into productive work. With the government needing every possible source of production, convict labor will no longer be regarded as unfair competition. Tens of thousands additional men will be given a part in the total war.

The way was cleared by Attorney General Biddle's opinion that interstate commerce restrictions would not prevent the government from buying penitentiary-made war materials. — Kansas City Times.

Movie Moguls Scrap Over Plans To Picturize Life of Henry Ford

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Hollywood is trying to hush it up, but two of the biggest moguls of the movie world recently staged a battle over Henry Ford. And it wasn't a screen fight either.

The two battlers were: In one corner, Louis B. Mayer, czar of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, former Republican national committeeman, and close friend of Herbert Hoover; in the other corner, Harry Warner, energetic spark-plug of Warner Brothers and an ardent admirer of President Roosevelt.

The argument occurred at a meeting of top movie moguls called to discuss future production schedules.

Louis Mayer revealed plans to picturize the life of Henry Ford. Discussion uncovered the fact that the picture was to be a glamorous portrayal of the motor magnate's career with no reference to various activities which for many years have been the subject of widespread denunciation.

"In other words, you are going to put out a whitewash," Warner remarked, according to friends.

"Henry Ford represents the wheels of civilization," retorted Mayer.

"And you have got yourself caught under those wheels!" shouted Warner.

Whereupon Mayer called Warner a fighting name. Warner retaliated with a swing to the jaw. Then they were separated.

Gasoline Miracle.

TODAY, with gasoline scarce along the Atlantic coast, certain U. S. naval officers remember with regret a mysterious inventor who turned up during the last war and said he was able to make gasoline out of water.

The story seems like a myth, but it is recorded in the U. S. Naval Institute Proceedings, an official record, and the navy in 1916 was so convinced that gasoline could be made out of water that it was willing to pay $2,000,000 for the process.

But suddenly, the inventor, a Portuguese, disappeared. The navy has never been able to find him since.

Here is the official version as written down by Captain E. P. Jessop, then senior engineering officer at the New York navy yard. He records that a Portuguese named John Andrews came to the engineering laboratory of the New York navy yard where he poured water from a navy bucket into the fuel tank of a navy motor boat engine, then took a small phial from his pocket and dropped six or seven drops of a greenish fluid into the tank. Then he said, "Start the engine."

The inventor had not examined the engine or altered it in any way. It sputtered a bit at first, then settled down to work and consumed every drop of fuel in the tank, developing 75 per cent of its rated horsepower.

"By this time," writes Captain Jessop in the official record, "we were in a state of mind to describe. We had seen a gas engine assimilate a great percentage of water in its fuel, when all our experience had proved that a very small percentage of water in the fuel would make the engine refuse duty; and the simplicity of Andrews' equipment seemed to make it impossible for him to have deceived us."

Cash or Nothing.

NEXT DAY, the experiment was repeated with salt water. This time, to make sure there was no deception, the mixture was made in a room entirely bare of furniture. Again the inventor poured water into the gasoline tank, mixed a few drops of green liquid with it, the engine started and did not even sputter. It settled down at once, developing 75 per cent of its rated horsepower.

Next, Inventor Andrews was taken to Washington for a demonstration before the navy's bureau of engineering. It was so convincing that the navy asked to buy his invention. The price asked was $2,000,000. The navy countered by offering to put $2,000,000 in the bank in escrow, the money to be paid when he had taught ten naval experts to mix the fuel.

Andrews refused the offer, saying he wanted cash. This made the navy skeptical. They hesitated, and a day or two later the inventor disappeared. He has never been heard of since.

"Personally," concludes Captain Jessop, "I believe that John Andrews had a very valuable secret, and it is a pity some way could not be worked out to satisfy his requirements."

Capital Chaff.

CONFIDENTIAL reports received by state department tell of loose discipline among German soldiers occupying Russian towns, resulting from sale of bootleg vodka to the soldiers by Russian peasants. . . . In spite of Soviet anti-church policies, staunch churchman Al Smith is heading a committee to celebrate June 22, anniversary of the German attack, as "Aid-to-Russia day," in favor of our "mighty ally." . . . Use of overland transportation for oil, in place of tanker ships, is costing U. S. oil companies $20,000,000 extra. . . . But the revenues are higher, as a result of four price increases allowed by OPA.

Pepper's Hitler.

HARD-HITTING Senator Claude Pepper of Florida is fond of ornaments and his office is filled with them.

One of his most prized is a large, stone rattlesnake. But although it occupied a prominent place on a mantelpiece in Pepper's outer office, it attracted little attention. Apparently there was too much competition from other things, such as fish tanks, paintings of Florida, fancy colored vases, bronze statuettes, and so on.

However, the stone snake at last has come into its own. It has become the cynosure of all eyes since Pepper placed a sign on it in big letters reading, "Hitler."

Political-Go-Round.

ELLIS ARNAL, hard-hitting, young Georgia attorney general, running against Governor Gene Talmadge, is making a hot issue of the charge that in 1939 Talmadge "sent a representative of his paper (young Talmadge) to Japan at the expense of the Japanese government under an agreement whereby the paper would present and print Japanese propaganda for American consumption." As evidence, Arnal has produced a letter signed by Tsato Takase, official of a former Jap propaganda agency in the U. S. . . . Latest to feel John L. Lewis' wrath against New Dealers is Representative Luther Patrick of Alabama, a militant Roosevelt supporter. Despite Patrick's 100 per cent pro-labor record, he is being vigorously opposed by Bill Mich, Lewis' Alabama henchman. Mich is backing a business man who is running for Patrick's seat.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—As the crow flies, Astoria, Long Island, is just a subway jump from Manhattan. Astoria is a legend-haunted point of interest for those who remember motion pictures as dim, jerky silent things that went in for the curse-you-Jack-Dalton type of entertainment. Mae West, John Barrymore, Helen Morgan, Pearl White, Lillian Gish, Norma Shearer began their film careers there. It was there that Jimmy Durante made his first film, and there that Jesse L. Lasky became the number one big shot in an industry that eventually became turtle-shelled under the word Hollywood.

I MENTION this because strange things are happening around the old Astoria studios. They have been made over into barracks, and the Signal Corps of the U. S. army has moved in. These men are making training films for the government, and among them are Jeffrey Lynn (who played the part of the soldier poet Joyce Kilmer in the "Fighting '69th"); Gil Scott of the Zanuck tribe, Ben Bernie's son, Jason, Harry Hopkins' son Bob, producer Eddie Small's son Buddy, and, yep, Jesse L. Lasky's son Jess, jr. Jim Broderick and Jimmy Ballast are also there, actors once but soldiers now.

I SAW Lynn in Asbury Park the other day. They plucked him out of the crowd and made him give a one-minute speech in Tommy Dorsey's War Stamps drive. He told me he hadn't seen New York in two months. He was wearing a fatigue reefer instead of the army blouse. Says it feels better and fits better. He wouldn't have his blouse altered by a tailor because he was afraid some of his pals would rag him about being a "Hollywood" soldier. It was a new life for Lynn, and the others. How come all that color, and no rings under the eyes? Five-thirty reveille, plenty sun, plenty work, plenty army chow. That's why.

THE trend in the army and naval plays, whether on the stage or on the air, is away from nudes and girl-chasing. Burgess Meredith, now a private in the army, has been doing army and navy relief work in N. Y., and this came up when a script had to be censored. The deleted lines weren't about troop movements. It was the amorous aspects of the drama.

In keeping with this trend is Parade Weekly, first of the picture magazines to eschew leg-art. No cheesecake wanted.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, English novelist, knighted in 1902, was born on May 22, 1859. Doyle attained immense popularity in 1891 when he published the "Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" in which appeared the imperturbable detective who thereafter found a host of imitators. During the World war, Doyle wrote propaganda for the Allies. In his later years he was a convinced spiritualist, and lectured on spiritualistic subjects. He died in 1930.

A Farmer's Diary

Three-Fold Mystery

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A HIGH SCHOOL boy came up to me and took three little wild rabbits out of his pocket. "Their mother was killed on the road," he said. "They're too little to do without her. I thought maybe you'd take them home for your children to pet and turn loose in the woods when they get big enough. I'll get you a box."

He went and got a pasteboard box and punched holes in it. Not daring to voice dubious feelings when my young friend had such faith in my ability, I permitted the three young things to ride home in my car and watched my daughter and her little brothers become ecstatic at sight of the 'dear little fuzzy babies.'

"We ought to name them, daddy," suggested the four-year-old.

"Their names," I said, with a drawing down of the mouth, are Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego." I did not amplify my statement.

"What funny names rabbits have!" remarked one child.

It turned out that we had no medicine dropper. So I loaded children and rabbits in, and we drove to the village to get one. Then they warmed some milk and fed the silky, black-eyed mites, much gratified to find that after getting a taste, they eagerly took hold and drank. Then they put their little charges down on a spot of short clover along the swamp and the bunnies feasted. But bringing them into the house, presently, a small boy dropped the box.

Shadrach, the friskiest, most likely one of the three, gave a leap and vanished into the calamus swamp. By the time the excited children had recaptured the other two, he had lost himself. The water was cold between the calamus shoots. They wondered if Shadrach drowned, or if a snake could have grabbed him.

That night Meshach scrooged through a crack in the lid and I heard something plopping about beneath my bed. I got sleepily up to investigate, not realizing at once what had made the sound. I opened the door to the porch and called, "Kitty, Kitty." Custard the yellow cat came running in just at the moment that Meshach came hopping out. They both went back outside together, precipitately, and I went, guilty and bewildered, back to bed.

Abednego stayed another day with us. He ate and drank and lived the life of Riley. The boys put him in a deep, clean keg on the back porch, where they could watch him eat lettuce and clover. But the last time they came with milk and the dropper, the keg was empty. Not a hair was there, not a drop of blood—not any rabbit. Where Abednego went will always be even more mysterious than the fate of his two brothers.

LEGAL EXPERTS GIVE TALKS AT BAR MEET HERE

Four Speakers to Appear as 300 Judges and Attorneys Convene Tomorrow.

Four of Ohio's leading authorities on law are scheduled to speak and conduct discussion sessions Saturday at a regional meeting of the Ohio State Bar association at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Nearly 300 judges and attorneys from eight counties in this area are expected to attend the meetings which will open at noon Saturday and continue through the afternoon and evening. Counties which will be represented include Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Delaware, Knox, Marion, Morrow, and Wyandot.

Principal speaker at a dinner Saturday night will be President Chester G. Wise of Akron, president of the state bar association. His subject will be: "This Emergency."

At the Saturday afternoon round-table meeting, Dean Arthur T. Martin of the Onio State university law school will head a discussion on the Ohio Administrative Law commission.

At the same meeting Attorney Russell J. Burt of Canton will discuss the proposed Code of Evidence prepared by the American Law Institute. Attorney Francis J. Amer of Cleveland will lead a discussion of the Declaratory Judgments Act.

Attorney John F. Kramer, president of the Richland County Bar association, will preside at the meetings. Arrangements are in charge of a committee headed by Attorney C. H. Henkel of Mansfield. Assisting him will be Attorneys John C. O'Donnell, C. J. Anderson, George W. Biddle, and John L. Catlett.

Attorney George H. Blecker is chairman of the luncheon and dinner committee, while Attorney Biddle heads the invitations committee. Attorney L. H. Beam is chairman of the reception committee.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Two career books for boys are among the new books in the children's room. In the first one Terry Dunham learned independence and self-reliance during his first season on a farm. In the other Jerry Foster learned the art of salesmanship and decided whether or not a college education was desirable.

DYNAMO FARM, by Adam Allen—Terry and his mother moved in early spring to the farm that had been given to them by Terry's uncle. They found much to be done and through the co-operation of friendly neighbors they were able to make a living. The book is really a story of Terry and 4-H club work and Terry's project which lead to the naming of their home, Dynamo Farm.

JERRY FOSTER, SALESMAN, by Elmer Ferris—The story of Jerry Foster is not a story of today but his decisions must be made by boys of any time. He was offered a job with a wholesale grocery firm after his graduation from Wayland Academy and he soon learned that he could be a good salesman. The school of hard knocks taught him much and sometimes a college education seemed quite unnecessary.

GERMAN LINE CRACKS BEFORE KHARKOV DRIVE

Kerch Fighting Spreads as Battles Rage Along Eastern Front.

a strong point which they had attempted to hold without regard to losses of men and equipment.

The Red army newspaper Red Star said that in another sector the Nazis were compelled to abandon mass tank attacks in defense maneuvers because of terrific losses and were now using infantry supported only by small tank squadrons and some airplanes.

The Izyum-Barvenkovo battlefield was described as "a veritable inferno," with the wreckage of Nazi tanks, caterpillar trucks and aircraft strewn across the countryside.

(The Daily Telegraph in London said "there seems little doubt the German casualties in this one engagement have been heavier than in any other battle fought in this war." The newspaper pointed out that for the past 10 days Soviet artillery men have been fighting practically in the front line, firing alternately against German aircraft, infantry and tanks and showing "a remarkable degree of accuracy.")

Berlin Claims Red Attacks Smashed

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—(AP)—The German high command declared today that Russian attacks on the Kharkov front had been smashed and that the initiative had been seized by the Nazi armies

The high command also said 19,942 more prisoners had been taken on the Kerch peninsula, bringing the total to 169,198 and that captured material now included 284 tanks and 1,397 guns

Southeast of Lake Ilmen (the Staraya Russa sector) Russian attacks continued ineffectively, a communique said, while in Lapland German troops gained further ground by encircling and annihilating "an enemy group"

German and Hungarian formations cleaned up "strong Bolshevist gangs," behind the lines, the communique added

German submarines have sunk 20 enemy merchant ships totaling 111,600 tons in the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico, and three others aggregating 14,000 tons in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the Nazi high command also announced

Germans Admit Red Break-Through

LONDON —(INS)— The German radio today revealed that Russian forces had broken through Nazi lines on an eight-mile front southeast of Lake Ilmen, Reuter's (British) news agency reported.

The break-through south of Leningrad occurred Wednesday, the Germans admitted

The Germans claimed that the Russian break-through was purely temporary but failed to say whether the Nazi line had been reestablished.

Although the Soviets carefully prepared their offensive with artillery, tanks and aircraft to support two divisions of Russian troops, it was asserted, the Germans succeeded in "shooting up" the attackers before the German positions, inflicting heavy casualties.

Sees AEF In Ireland Joining Fight Soon

LONDON — (INS) — Sir Alan Brooke, chief of Britain's Imperial general staff, returning from a visit to the American Expeditionary Forces in Northern Ireland, declared today that an opportunity for United States troops to see action "no doubt will come soon."

In Ulster the British commander inspected troops, tanks and other equipment newly brought to Ireland by the third expeditionary force which arrived last week

He issued a statement praising "the high standard of the troops and weapons' sent across in the largest convoy to reach Europe since the last war.

Girl Scouts Plant Anniversary Tree

Mansfield Girl Scouts of Troop 5, led by Mrs Richard Fensch, planted their fifth tree in South Park yesterday afternoon in celebration of their fifth anniversary The tree, a five-foot Colorado spruce, is similar to that planted in other years Planting ceremonies preceded a supper, cooked out of doors by the Scouts, to which the mothers of troop members were invited. A group of Scouts engaged in the tree-planting are shown here with their leader. They are, from left to right, Helen McClure, Katharine Schafer, Kathryn Ann Fensch, Mrs. Richard Fensch and Margaret Buhr. The program also included presentation of five-year gold pins to Senior Scouts who had been with the troop since the beginning and first aid certificates to Scouts completing the course. Miss Eleanor Bond, Girl Scout executive, made the presentation Mrs. K. E. Buhr is co-leader of the troop effort is needed to put the county "over the top."

"We have the responsibility," Eliot said, "of buying in the remainder of this month, $184,000 worth of bonds—an amount almost equal to the total sale of 'E' bonds in the county during the month of February

"I believe that Richland county will respond to this challenge, as it always has done before whenever a real necessity was present.

"No doubt many of those who made pledges have not made their May purchases as yet I urge everyone to do so as soon as possible so that we can have a complete report on our sales immediately after the end of the month Delaying purchases until the last few days of the month, as many have done in the past, also increases the work of the issuing agents

"The state director has issued a special appeal to those contemplating the purchase of series "F" and G" bonds requesting that there be no delay in these purchases (These are those bonds which are purchased by corporations, associations, trustees, etc)

The Treasury department has reiterated that bond-buying will be kept on a voluntary basis if all of us respond to its appeal to make our purchases on the basis of 10 per cent of our incomes"

SEES CLAMPDOWN

MOSCOW—(UP)—A Tass news agency dispatch today reported the arrest of a number of German court officials by the gestapo in what may have been the first important move by Hitler to clamp down on officialdom under the powers recently granted him by the Reichstag had any connection with the Coral sea battle of two weeks ago or with a new enemy concentration of war and supply ships for a major invasion offensive in the Australian area.

The dispatch said that court officials had been arrested in Berlin, Cologne, Hannover, Frankfurt, Dresden and other German cities but it did not disclose the source of this information.

However, all the extensive Allied reconnaissance flights in the last two weeks, made despite unfavorable weather, have concentrated on finding whether the Japanese, after their Coral sea defeat, were reassembling ships at their southwest Pacific bases for a new rendezvous at sea.

Report Allies Mass For Pacific Punch

(UP Staff Correspondent)

AUCKLAND, N, Z. — New Zealand government leaders tonight reported a massing of strength for an Allied "all-out punch" in the southwest Pacific, following the arrival of Vice Admiral Robert Lee Ghormley, U. S. N, to assume command of the United States-New Zealand naval forces

Ghormley, who arrived yesterday with his staff to set up his command under Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in Chief of the U. S. Pacific fleet, said that "time is vital and I am here to fight a war."

New Zealand's army chief, Lieut. James Puttick, said "we are gaining men for an offensive against Japan, an all-out punch will be required"

"We do not look upon New Zealand and Australia as places simply to be defended, but as a rallying ground for the democratic armed forces of the United States and the Pacific"

Battles Raging On New Chinese Front

CHUNGKING —(UP)— The Chinese Central news agency said today that bloody battles were raging along a 200-mile front in Chekiang province and in one battle the Chinese had killed 1,000 Japanese.

The battle was fought Tuesday west of Chunghein, the agency said. Chinese casualties also were heavy.

A military spokesman said the Chinese had heavily counter-attacked and driven back the Japanese who landed from warships Thursday at the mouth of the Min river.

The Japanese shelled Foochow, which is 25 miles from the mouth of the river, but they did not land in Foochow and it still was in Chinese hands, the spokesman emphasized.

At least 80,000 Japanese were believed massed in Chekiang province and 30,000 more at the Kiangsi province capital of Nanchang for a supreme court to knock our Allied air and supply bases in eastern China

The presidential military staff announced officially that the "army is ready for any decision the president may take." Officers believed that "no Mexican soldier shall fight abroad," although the army would abide by its tradition of dignity, whatever may happen."

Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla meanwhile investigated unconfirmed reports that the Mexican vessel Faja De Oro had been torpedoed and sunk. These reports fanned public indignation. The foreign office had "nothing to report."

REJECT MERGER

Ohio Lutherans Vote Down Plan To Shift Divinity School.

TOLEDO —(AP)— A proposal to merge the Hamma Divinity seminary at Springfield, with the Chicago Lutheran seminary was rejected by the Ohio Synod of the United Lutheran Church of America, which held the decisive vote.

Previously the merger was approved by the Indiana, Michigan, West Virginia and Warburg Synods. The Kentucky-Tennessee Synod also rejected it. The voting strength of the Ohio Synod surpasses that of all the others.

OHIO'S 'BABY' COUNTY HARD HIT BY WAR

Houses Vacant at M'Arthur, Labor Shortage Feared, But Patriotism Runs High.

(The Associated Press made a cross-section survey to discover how the average Ohioan has been affected by and what he is doing in the war effort. This is the last of a series of five articles on the subject).

By JOHN L. WEBER
Written for the Associated Press

M'ARTHUR—The war is making one of Ohio's smallest and poorest counties, Vinton county with a population of 12,000, even smaller and poorer.

With no defense industry in the county, many men who are not in the armed services have gone to Dayton, Columbus, Cleveland, and Ravenna to work. The county draft board, with few occupational deferments, has been forced to send older and married men to fill heavy quotas. Businessmen and merchants face actual bankruptcy in many cases because customers are either away or in the armed forces.

The only two plants in the county are engaged in secondary defense work. One is making explosives for use in mining, while the other recently completed a contract to furnish brick for a Detroit plane plant. Neither plant is working at full capacity.

The defense organization in Vinton county is getting under way, a salvage campaign has been successful, but the general opinion is that enemy bombers aren't likely to come over McArthur.

The county is doing its part in the war effort. Already over $180,000 in war bonds and stamps have been sold, and the May quota is an easy $6,300. Local coal mines are still working steadily to furnish coal for industry, farmers are backing heavily the "food-for-freedom" program, and much timber is being taken from nearby forests.

Within a month or so, the county expects to have as many men under arms as it provided in the World war.

Perhaps a third of the residents of the county are indirectly engaged in the war effort, farmers, miners, lawyers, and employes of the two local plants, while others are working in war jobs outside the county.

In rural communities, with few means of transportation other than the auto, tire-rationing is just beginning to be felt.

There is little activity in the county as a whole which tends to take the minds of residents off war. War is discussed everywhere, on McArthur street corners when the farmers gather Saturday nights, in soft drink bars, beauty parlors . . . everywhere people gather, war is usually the topic of conversation.

Few families are not represented by some relative or close friend in the armed forces, and because of this, the county is acutely "slacker conscious," something not yet prevalent in larger Ohio communities. For a small county, many men are in the navy. Two navy enlisted men have already been killed in the war, and one is a prisoner of the Japs.

Patriotism also is acute. Many older men, not likely to be called by the draft, and men with dependents are trying to get into the armed services as specialists.

For the first time in a decade, vacant houses are available in McArthur, with war workers and drafted men moving out. Farm labor is scarce, and small stores and farms are being advertised for sale or rent.

Vinton county is an agricultural county, with coal and timber as secondary products. All of these products are being increased by the war effort, and those engaged in farming, mining, and timber-cutting are experiencing an income increase, but the scarcity of labor is beginning to be felt.

About a month ago, all relief, both direct and indirect, and all WPA projects were halted.

At the Zaleski State forest, with government-built Lake Hope as the main attraction, foresters are uncertain whether the tire situation is going to cut down last year's record attendance. But there is a feeling that Ohipans will see their own state more this summer instead of taking out-of-state vacations.

The war has posed serious problems to the baby of Ohio's 88 counties But the general feeling here is that they will be effectively dealt with as they arise.

MURDERER SHOT WHILE IN COURT

Jury Finds Man Guilty After He Dies From Wound In Harlan Flare-up.

(By International News Service)

HARLAN, Ky.—The single shot that ended the life of Manzo Shepherd ten minutes before he was convicted of murder, today supplied another sensational page in the history of Harlan county justice.

Shepherd, 24, was shot in the back yesterday as he sat in county circuit court awaiting Judge James S. Forester's charge to the jury. The courtroom slayer, it was alleged, was Jack Heaton, 26, nephew of Joe Christian, the taxicab driver whom Shepherd was found guilty of murdering. Heaton was jailed.

After Shepherd was carried from the courtroom and order was restored, Judge Forester told the jury the defendant was alive when removed and ordered them to pass judgment on the case.

After only a few minutes the jurors filed back and announced they had found Shepherd guilty and recommended death in the electric chair. Shepherd had died about ten minutes earlier en route to a hospital.

Amid screams of women and children, "plenty of people saw Heaton fire the shot that struck Shepherd in the back," Sheriff Clinton Ball said

Meantime, the trials of Sherman Clouse, 28, and Howard Hensley, 20, indicted with Shepherd for the murder of the cab driver on April 25, were ordered continued until the next term of the court.

GAS SAVER

BUENOS AIRES—(U.P.)—A device which reportedly effects a 20 per cent saving on gasoline consumed by motor cars and trucks has been invented here by a mechanic. Antonio Vannucci, who claims his device reduces fuel consumption by utilizing exhaust gases. He has named it "The Powermeter."

Rubber Industry Has Its Own Set Of Trade Words

AKRON —(INS)— Besides being faced with the necessity of having worn tire casings recapped if the rubber shortage becomes more acute, American motorists will also be confronted with the problem of learning a set of trade words peculiar to the industry.

The most confusing of these words—Camelback—has nothing to do with camels. It is a rubber compound used in replacing the tread on a worn tire.

Other confusing terms are:

Carcass—A tire body exclusive of the tread.

Cure—An application of heat that causes the recap to adhere to the tire.

Matrix—A circular metal shell, which imprints the tread design into the camelback.

Skid Depth—The distance between the top and bottom of the tread design on a recapped tire.

British Experts Study New Means To Fight Bombs

LONDON —(INS)— Although it is ten months since firebombs dropped on London, a group of men spent their time in a laboratory in the capital fighting incendiaries.

These men are part of the vast research department of the Ministry of Home Security. Their leader is an ex-colonel.

In addition to testing hundreds of methods of extinguishing incendiary bombs, the experts carefully examine their daily fan mail.

Amateur inventors from all parts of Britain are spending their time devising new ways of beating the fire bombs, and they submit the results of their private investigations to the professionals.

In many cases the ideas suggested by the amateurs have been tried out in the Ministry of Home Security's laboratories but up to now none of them have proved of any use.

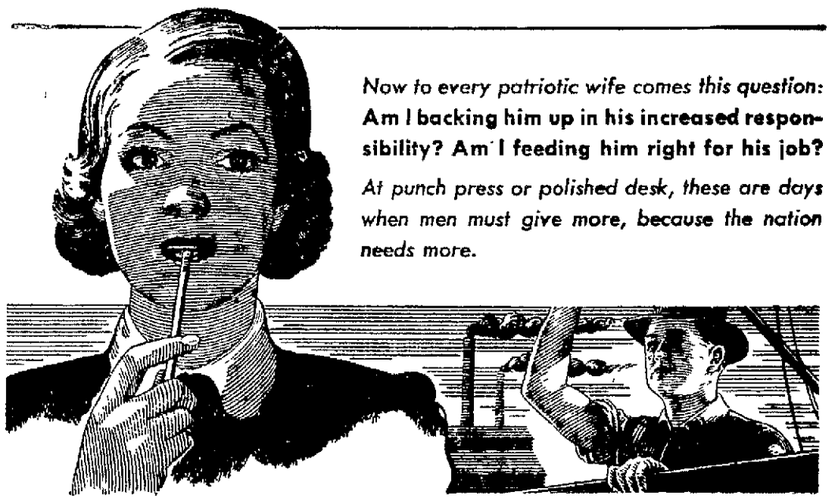
How to plan

"FIGHTING MEALS"

For the Man on the Job



Now to every patriotic wife comes this question: Am I backing him up in his increased responsibility? Am I feeding him right for his job?

At punch press or polished desk, these are days when men must give more, because the nation needs more.

FIGHTING FOODS . . . The government's new nutritional program of health-for-victory calls for these foods every day: Meat, poultry or fish—one or more servings . . . Vegetables—green, leafy and yellow . . . Milk—at least a pint (more for children) . . . Oranges, tomatoes or grapefruit . . . Potatoes, apples or bananas—or other fruits or vegetables . . . Enriched bread, enriched flour or cereal . . . Eggs—at least 3 or 4 a week . . . Fats, sweets—as you like them.

Never have a meal table and lunch pail meant more to this nation.

When you plan your meals this summer—when you go to the store to shop—remember you can't provide good nutrition without all the foods essential to good nutrition.

These include meat, vegetables, fruits, dairy products and cereal foods.

Men at work appreciate meat. The wives who stand behind them know the benefits of meat served regularly, for meat contributes complete, high quality proteins, B vitamins and minerals (iron, copper, phosphorus)—needed for good nutrition in summer as in winter.

LIFE CAN . . . AND WILL . . . BE BEAUTIFUL

The bride is happy . . . and enthused with her new position as wife and home-maker. As a home-maker, she soon learns to pin her faith on Advertised products. She knows that advertisements bring information that spells savings—economy, comfort, and convenience in the home. She is alert for value, knowing that dealers who sell goods of true value and sound quality do not hesitate to advertise where you can read, study and compare their qualifications and prices. She is assured the merchandise is "as represented" . . . that it has "acceptance"—having been tested by thousands of critical shoppers and found worthwhile.

In this manner, ADVERTISING helps to assure a happier, more complete life for millions of Americans.

"Advertising nourishes the consuming power of men. It creates wants for a better standard of living. It sets up before a man the goal of a better home, better clothing, better food for himself and his family. It spurs individual exertion and greater production. It brings together in fertile union those things which otherwise would never have met."

Enters Hospital For 29th Time In Last 24 Years

MARION —(NS)— Jesse W. Spawn, produce dealer known as the "man of many mishaps," is in the hospital again—his 29th trip in 24 years.

This time, Spawn is being treated for an illness, but usually it is accidents that put him on a hospital bed.

It all started on New Years day, 1918, when he was caught between two freight cars in the railroad yards at Willard. Three days after his release, he was back again for an operation for appendicitis.

On other occasions, Spawn has suffered skull and spine injuries; broken ribs four times; heat prostration and back injuries, twice.

AEF LEARNING ENGLISH THAT RESEMBLES JIVE

Guinea's No Hen and Codding Means Kidding, No Kiddin', In North Ireland.

(By Wide World)

WITH THE UNITED STATES FORCES IN NORTHERN IRELAND—When one of the boys over here writes home to say he spent a tanner at the flesher's and a bob for the bloody cinema and, on the way home, carrying a load of stout and without a torch, fell over a pram, which somewhat browned him off—

It isn't a new brand of army jive talk; it's British.

For aid in translating letters, here's a glossary from the Stars and Stripes, weekly newspaper of the United States armed forces in Britain:

A. T. S.—Auxiliary Territorial Service. Or—A Terrific Sensation (editor's note; the ATS wear skirts, and we don't mean Scotsmen).

Banshee—Spirits, in the non-alcoholic sense of the word.

Bloody—Dratted, blooming, pesty, nasty. As in sergeant.

Bob—English jive talk for a shilling.

Browned off—Overheated, as in "burned up."

Chemist Shop—same as our drugstores, sans sandwiches.

Cinema—Galloping flickers.

Codding—No kidding, it's codding, not kidding.

Fags—Coffin nails.

Flesher—where you get your pound of flesh; liver, beef, lamb chops.

Fruiterer—See "flesher" and figure it out for yourself.

Guinea—not a hen, but you can buy one with it. Twenty-one shillings.

Half-crown—Two shillings and sixpence. About four bits. Remember?

Half Four—Doesn't add up to two. Means half-past four or four-thirty, a. m. or p. m., as the case may be.

How you going?—What's cooking, bub?

Jerry—A. Schicklgruber and his cronies.

Lift—A hitch-hiker's ambition and a carriage for transportation between floors of a building. An elevating word.

Liquid stockings—No runs, no snags, no holes, no ladders, no seams, no stockings. They're just painted on where stockings ought to go.

Pram—See below. Has its advantages. No one ever asks you to say "rubber pram bumpers" ten times real fast.

Petrol—Joy juice for an automobile.

Poulterer—See fruiterer.

Shilling—Twelve pence, if that makes any difference. Twenty-four cents, approximately.

Stone—Fourteen pounds, avoirdupois, not monetary.

Stout—A drink that makes you feel that way.

Tanner—Sixpence, approximately a dime.

Torch—Blues singers carry them, so does everyone else. Flashlights to you.

Tram—Tram, tram, tram, the boys are riding. We'd call them streetcars.

Pound—Sixteen ounces at home but 240 pence or twenty shillings (about $4) over here.

W. A. A. F.—Women Auxiliary Air Force. Or—Wonderful Women.

W. R. N. S.—Women's Royal Naval Service. Or—Joys of my life.

RITES TODAY

ASHLAND — Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. today at Ashland cemetery for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rinard who died several hours after birth yesterday at Samaritan hospital. Rev. P. M. Redd, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiated at the services.

In addition to his parents the infant is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Rinard of Rinard's Mill, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones of Putman, W. Va.

LICENSE ISSUED

ASHLAND—A marriage license has been issued here to John F. Newmyer, Ashland, R. D. and Roberta Huffman, Ashland.

NEW BOOK GIVES GLIMPSE INTO WOMEN'S CLUBS

'Madam Chairman, Members and Guests,' Now Available at City Library.

An intimate glimpse into women's clubs, which, for better or for worse, are a power in the land, is given by Helen Hayes Peffer in a witty and informative new book, "Madam Chairman, Members and Guests," now available at the Mansfield Public Library.

The author's work is an informal record of a few years' astonished observation of the American club woman in action and it is delightfully illustrated by Helen Hokinson.

NORTHERN NURSE by Elliott Merrick is a remarkable personal narrative—the exciting, authentic story of Australian Kay Austen—the author's wife—who went to Labrador to serve as a trained nurse, and found herself forced to act as physician, surgeon, anaesthetist, dietician, as well as nurse—for a whole isolated community It is a factual and inspiring story—by the author of "Frost and Fire."

CANTON CAPTAIN by James B Connolly is a biography of Captain Robert Forbes, merchant captain of the 19th century. Forbes was 14 years old when he first sailed into Canton Harbor—and his story as a whole is the story of the fabulous China Trade—and of America's colorful part.

THE SETTING SUN OF JAPAN by Carl Randau and Leane Zugsmith, Far Eastern correspondents for "PM," is the story of what the authors learned as they traveled with the Japanese, in Japan, in countries the Japanese had occupied and in territories they hope to conquer—from early spring of 1941 to a few weeks before Japan declared war on us. They learned and they tell you, how people live under Japanese Fascism or under the fear of Japanese Fascism; and why

OTHER NON-FICTION: A GUIDE TO RECORDED MUSIC by Kolodin; GARDEN IS POLITICAL (Poems) by Brinnin; A WITNESS TREE (Poems) by Frost MODERN FRUIT PRODUCTION by Gourley & Howdett; LIVING TOGETHER IN THE FAMILY by Dennis. BEST ONE-ACT PLAYS OF 1941 by Mayorga. "OUR LIBRARY" by Fenner; WIND IS RISING by Tomlinson; HISTORY AND ROMANCE OF THE HORSE by Vernon

A new reference book A NEW DICTIONARY OF QUOTATIONS selected and edited by H L Mencken is also being added to the library collection.

ONLY ONE STORM by Granville Hicks is a story of a young and successful man who leaves the hurly-burly life of a New York advertising executive to settle with his wife and children in the little Berkshire village of his birth There he runs a job printing business. There he and his family become a part of the village life, the church, the school, the town meeting and its politics It is a picture of what is happening in America, a book which faces life and blinks nothing

WESTWARD THE SUN by Brigid Knight tells a sweeping, romantic story of a woman who carried with her, through years of strife, the memory of a man she had met but once. Though Charlotte Durant married someone else, a diamond merchant whose sudden disappearance left her tormented by doubt—and though her peace was further shattered by Jameson's famous raid—out of the raid came the man of her memory—and, with him, eventual happiness. Background for the story is the setting up of the Transvaal Republic.

MR. PAN by Emily Hahn is made up of 28 chronicles—24 of which have been printed in the "New Yorker"—which tell of the comings and goings of Pan Heh-Ven, his improbable father, his wife, his brother, and his astonishing retinue of servants. These delightful stories are more than amusing. Covering as they do the war period in China, as well as the peaceful interlude, they offer an insight into the Chinese character which more ambitious authors may well envy.

OTHER FICTION: WELCOME SOLDIER by McMeekin; GUNSMOKE TRAIL by Mann; THE DEVIL BUILDS A CHAPEL by Marlett.

Murder On the Avenue

CHAPTER XVI

"I know your firm, a couple of sound young fellows, who are rising steadily — if this doesn't give you a setback."

"It won't give us a setback if I come through with flying colors. That's why I want you to take hold. Will you?"

"I think so. You're going to tell me the truth?"

"You said a moment ago you believed my story."

"Yes, I do. I could wish it a little more positive, but it may come to you more clearly."

"Don't bank on that"

"What must I bank on?"

"The fact that I did not kill Mrs. McCleod, and we must find out who did."

"And which way do we look?"

"I'm not sure that we should confine our search to the four men whom Captain Raynor considered the only possible suspects."

"Did he say that?"

"Not in so many words, but if he had other suspects why weren't they there?"

"Not very sound reasoning, but perhaps true. Bliss coming back here today?"

"He said he'd try to, but there's the office to take care of."

"I'll go to see him, then. Listen; my taking this matter up depends on you. I don't want you to get supine again, or running off at a tangent—"

"I'm not likely to run off at anything!" Brand said, with a despairing look.

"No; but you're the up-and-down sort, and I don't like the unexpected."

"I won't make trouble for you. But aren't you acting for Mr. McCleod in this case?"

"In what case? McCleod hasn't recognized any case that I know of. A case has to have a complainant and a defendant."

"All right, I'll be both And you'll see me through. Going now?"

"Yes, I'll see Bliss"

"Tell him to come here to see me tonight."

The look of misery in Brand's eyes made Chadwick uncomfortable. He had known the younger man for years and had always liked him and was watching his career with satisfaction. He didn't like Clarence Bliss so well, but he wanted to see him. He went directly to their office.

Bliss asked whether he was going to give Herrick his help.

"Of course," Chadwick said, "if you assure me of his innocence."

"I can't do that as well as he can."

"He has done it," Chadwick smiled. "I am convinced of it, but he has a hard row to hoe."

"In what way?"

"He is so uncertain as to the happenings of that night. Has he told you all about it?"

"Not yet. We were hurried a little. I'll see him tonight, and he'll tell me all!"

"Don't depend on his telling you all—get it all out of him He's willing, but he's flighty. The thing has been a shock to him. Look here, Bliss, Brand couldn't have fallen for the lady's charms and then, if she laughed at him, flown in a rage and lost his head, and grabbed the pillow, not knowing what he was doing and—"

"You must be crazy yourself to—"

"But he is almost entirely unable to remember what happened".

"Not if that's what happened. Which it didn't! Leave it to me. I'll see him tonight, and when I'm through with him, I'll know all. Then you and I will fix things. How about Mr. McCleod? Isn't he your client?"

"Yes, a regular. But I'm not doing anything against his interests. I'm trying to find the murderer of his wife."

"I know Won't he go away or something?"

"He can't, very well His father is so ill. And he can't leave his sister with all the responsibility."

"No; I see. Well, I'll talk to Brand tonight, and I'll report to you. Do you mean then, that we're just playing detectives in a murder case?"

"At present. When we can prove Herrick innocent we can think about taking steps."

"All right, Mr. Chadwick. Why are you so good to him?"

"I've known him from his cradle—and I see a great future for him, if we can get him freed to enjoy it"

Chadwick went away, and the younger member of the firm of Herrick and Bliss sat pondering on the strange situation that confronted them.

When Brand Herrick found himself in Sing Sing prison, he was still uncertain as to the right or reason of his being there.

At times he was clear-headed and acutely conscious of the situation. Then he had lapses into that strange wondering mood and asked Bliss what it was all about, and failed utterly to understand what was meant by automatic appeal, and held for trial. He would look blankly at his partner and then make some reply far wide of the mark.

But that phase passed in a few days, and Chadwick was greatly relieved to find his young client becoming rational and able to realize where he stood and what he was up against.

He said little regarding the McCleod tragedy, but was alert and alive to the details of his own business, and had long confabs with Bliss, which amazed that young man by the wisdom and perspicacity with which Herrick semed to be newly imbued.

To his lack of comfort or convenience he appeared utterly oblivious

Chadwick on his first visit, spoke casually of the McCleods.

"How is the old man?" Brand said, rather perfunctorily. "And Hugh?"

"Angus is about the same. Hugh is holding himself together with effort, I think. His sister nearly drives him distracted. When Alma was there Emmy could not interfere much, but now she pesters the life out of her brother. I don't go there much. Wade is there occasionally, still fussing over Alma's will book."

"What's a will book?"

"It's a notion many women have of jotting down in a little note book, various belongings of theirs, which they wish to have handed over to various friends after their own demise. Such a book has no legal value, but a lawyer feels bound to take care of it for a departed client. Wade and Hugh McCleod are doing their best to follow Alma's directions, and Linda helps them a lot. I have seen many newly-made widowers, but I tell you, Herrick, I have never seen such desperate grief as McCleod is suffering Not that he says anything, he is careful to show no emotion, but I can see him clench his fingers, and I can see his face almost livid with agony as some word of her is spoken or some of her intimate belongings appear suddenly?"

"Who does he think did it?"

"I don't think he suspects you any more than the others But he's pretty sure it was one of Alma's boy friends Now, Brand, we are going to save you if you will help to save yourself"

"I will, Chadwick, Don't think I'm going to let this thing get me But I have to adjust myself to it"

"I know. You are, as yet groping in the dark You must be shown what to do."

"Can you show me?"

"No; but I propose to get someone who can."

Herrick looked a him curiously.

"Why are you so good to me?" he said.

"Perhaps I'd better tell you" Chadwick looked at Brand with a glance almost affectionate.

"There are two reasons," he went on. "One is the simple truth that you are a promising young lawyer, and likely to become an ornament to the profession I follow. Unless you are speedily cleared of this false accusation, it will be a bad thing for you in many ways. The other is the memory of your mother. We were schoolmates when we were about 16 or 17 years old. We were—or thought we were deeply in love, and we told each other that 'we loved with a love that was more than love,' in the words of 'Annabel Lee This was in Ebbitt's Corners, Michigan"

"Why, that's where my uncle lives!"

"Your great uncle, yes. Jason Webb His sister Lucy married a Brand, and their daughter Catherine was your mother—and my sweetheart But -- my people moved to New York and-het people stayed out West, and fate decreed that we should never meet again I heard later, that Catherine Brand had married a Herrick, and you, her son, were named Brand because it was your mother's maiden name."

"My mother died when I was 12, and I was sent to live with her sister in Chicago I remember my mother as being a beautiful woman—"

"I remember her as a girl, and as a child. It is because of her memory I am anxious to be friends with her son, and—I want to make you realize that your position at present is far from safe or secure"

"I can do nothing about it Clarence Bliss, my partner, is ready and willing to do anything in the world he can for me But he cannot keep our law firm going and at the same time, take steps to find out if I am here on a false accusation or not. You must see that."

"I do see it, Brand, and that is what I'm here to talk to you about. I can get a few favors for you from the authorities. I want something definite done in your case. Not just advice from lawyers, but more active and expert procedure."

"Detective work?" Brand looked up, with a sudden gleam in his eyes that implied hope.

"Yes, just that. And the best."

"Then you mean a private investigator."

"I certainly do. And I believe the one I have in mind would make short work of your detention here"

"Chadwick you give me a thrill!"

"With your permission then, I'll get Fleming Stone."

"With my permission? With my unbounded gratitude! And I shall pay you, you know that, even if by installments!"

"At your leisure. I know success waits for—Kitty Brand's son"

"I have a bit laid by I feared no disaster, so long as Bliss and I kept together. But for him alone—"

"Never mind that, now. And, anyway, I'll give him a lift when he needs it. Now I'm going to the warden's office, and telephone Stone, and do a little wire-pulling and see where we stand. My boy, we will get you out of this!"

"You're a brick!"

Chadwick had never married. It suited his eccentric idea of sentiment to save from a possible miscarriage of justice the son of his boyhood love. Beside, he liked the chap. Everybody liked Brand, until just now, when he was not himself.

Chadwick's coming was at the psychological moment. Never before had Brand needed that sort of friendship and never before had it been offered him.

He had been dazed, really, by the fact that he was arrested for killing Alma. Chadwick's suggestion of Fleming Stone was like a sudden dazzling brilliance to a half-blinded man.

New Plan Set Up For Organization Of School Clubs

H. D. Bishop, assistant principal at Mansfield Senior high school, announced today that members of the school's four Hi-Y club voted to reorganize the clubs on a basis of school class membership.

Under the old setup members of each club were drawn from all three classes, sophomore, junior and senior. New plans call for organization of three clubs, one for each of the three classes.

"Reorganization on a class basis," Bishop said, "will place the boys in more homogeneous groups. The interests of younger and older boys in the same group have proved to be so different that it has been difficult for the clubs to function efficiently."

The four clubs affected by the change are the Ralph B. Chapman, John Sherman, George Williams and Eta Iota Upsilon Hi-Y's

Bishop said that reorganization plans are already under way so that the new clubs may be set up and officers elected before the completion of the school year.

"America can count on us—
we're sailing again tomorrow!"

YOU CAN READ for yourself—almost any day, in almost any newspaper—the story that's written in this young man's face.

It's a story of determination, of high purpose, and boundless courage—the story of the men who daily risk their lives in America's Merchant Marine.

TODAY IS MARITIME DAY. Today, America honors this young man and every other merchant seaman.

These are the men who carry the weapons of Victory to the far corners of the earth. These are the men without whom there could be no Victory.

For them, war is real. War means anxious hours on the bridge or in the stokehole or on lookout. War means aches in their muscles, blisters on their hands. It means days without peace and nights without rest; mines and torpedoes and—if they're lucky—hardtack and rainwater in an open boat.

They know the price of Freedom, these men. They're ready to pay it—with their eyes wide open and their heads held high.

These are American heroes in dungarees—the men who sail the ships that keep open the paths of Freedom.

At 2:45 P. M. today, a great new factory to create added driving power for the American Merchant Marine will be dedicated. Built and operated by Westinghouse, the plant will produce for the Maritime Commission the huge, powerful turbines that drive America's merchant ships.

In this and other Westinghouse plants, many thousands of Westinghouse employees are devoting every ounce of their skill and effort and "know how" to the Ships for Victory program. We have never had a prouder task.

THE WAR TODAY

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt Mackenzie, Wide World war analyst, is being written in his absence for a fortnight by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

There is more evidence today, in so far as the Axis is concerned, that this is where Japan came in.

The Japanese have gone back in earnest to their gigantic labors in China. After entering free China by the back door, penetrating Yunnan province by way of Burma, they have thrown some 125,000 troops into action in the eastern provinces of Chekiang, Fukien and Kiangsi, which they have never really occupied in the strict sense of the word.

This east China drive goes further than an attempt to eliminate Allied air bases within bombing range of Tokyo, although that factor undoubtedly has lent urgency to the move. Primarily, however, it seems to be the beginning of a general offensive in which Japan picks up where she left off before Pearl Harbor—A major endeavor to complete the "pacification" of China, which, after five long years, remains Japan's No. 1 problem in Asia.

This is the interpretation placed on the Chinese developments by some students of the Jap war strategy:

1. Japan is beginning to consolidate, or mop up, following her sensational victories over thousands of miles of the west Pacific area.

2. She prefers to try to knock China out, no trivial undertaking, rather than attempt new major conquests.

3. This precludes any large-scale invasion of India or Australia, although parts of east India may be attacked in order to break the Laet Allied communications with China, and there may be sizeable naval action in the Coral sea area for the purpose of blockading Australia from U. S. aid.

4. Therefore, so far as Japan is concerned, collaboration with Germany is finished and the Axis no longer is a real factor in Japanese military strategy. Germany can do nothing now for Japan; why should Japan do anything for Germany, such as attack Siberia, until it suits Japan's own selfish ends?

There is nothing in this analysis to cause any great degree of jubilation among the United Nations; indeed, the fact that our enemies are separated in design and strategy may well mean a longer war, for the collapse of one will no longer tend to pull the other down.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Fallacies.

(No 2—Never Switch Your Act)

IT MUST have begun in vaudeville when some hoofer tried to juggle, too, and was booted off into the wings by an audience that didn't like the color of his hair — but anyway, there is a grave and respected superstition on Broadway that to change your act is suicide.

Kilgallen

If you sing, keep singing. If you do a sketch about two plumbers and an old maid, never revise it to one about two brush salesmen and a farmer's daughter. Why? Why, it might change your luck. You want to change your luck, because it's bad? Well, you won't do it by changing your act; changing your act is like whistling in a dressing room or walking under a ladder.

Anyway, that's what they said along the street and that's what they believe. But look at the record

Name anybody in show business, and it's ten to one you'll find a switch somewhere along the way to a dazzling career. You know the one about the school-teacher who got tired writing on blackboards and became Madeleine Carroll . . . Victor Moore, comedian for years and years, made his greatest movie success as a tragedian in "Make Way For Tomorrow," a real weeper.

Phil Baker switched from piano-playing to accordion-squeezing to stooge-baiting, and the triple switch just fattened his pocketbook and eased him into radio and the theater . . . Lou Costello was a happy stunt man for Dolores Del Rio, but now that he's switched to Bud Abbott he's happier.... And Cary Grant—aahhhh!—aren't you glad he switched from stilt-walking at Coney Island?

Joe E Brown dashed from ball-playing to acting and Vic Orsatti happily jumped from the same sport to agenting celebrities . . . The Andrews Sisters were vaudeville dancers—listen to 'em croon! . . . Eddie Dowling went from song-and-dance man to producer of clawss drama—Saroyan and Paul Vincent Carroll . . . Hildegarde was a song plugger until her music publisher boss fired her and suggested she peddle her papers instead of his songs . . . Mischa Auer studied to follow his father in the service of the Imperial Russian army—where would he have wound up if he hadn't switched his act? . . . And look at Kay Frances, a secretary who did much better when she left the typewriter for the galloping tintypes.

Belle Baker was a thriving young executive in a dress factory here in Manhattan, but she changed her act . . . Jimmy Durante started as an infielder in semi-professional baseball and was in show business for years before he stopped dreaming about playing with the Giants . . . Gracie Hartman switched from Denishawn dancing, very highbrow, very straight face, to comedy, very broad—and you can always see her name in lights, dimout permitting . . . Maurice Evans was not so long ago a clerk, but the fact that he's a whiz with an adding machine didn't hamper his Hamlet . . . Ask W. C Fields if he's sorry he switched from juggling!

There probably are a flock of people who switched their acts and didn't make a go of it But somehow I can't recall any, and the names of those who changed from good to better keep popping into my head.

Phil Regan, from cop to singer. Bob Benchley, from critic to actor. Goodman Ace, from newspaperman to radio comedian. Bing Crosby, from law student to crooner.

They did fine, didn't they?

Oscar Levant was a good composer before he was famous, but when he started being a comedian he became a household word . . . Bernard Sobel switched the hard way, from college professor of mathematics to press agenting. But he saw much prettier figures in his second job—he was press agent for the Ziegfeld Follies! . . . Monte Woolley—there's another prof who made a switch, from Yale to Broadway to Hollywood (And you've heard the one about the college professor's salary check, haven't you?)

Chatter Corner

Jack Gerhart stopping to talk to a friend in front of a downtown flower store. . . . Alden Smith walking in the rain in a bright yellow slicker. . . . Glenn D. Pore busy with plans for the scoutmaster's overnight hike tomorrow night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lantz of Bowman street road enjoying a visit this week from their son, Roy E., of Amarillo, Tex. . . . Paul F. Cropper varnishing floors at midnight. . . . Neighbors Martin Merschdorf and Earl Herrick digging postholes, preliminary to fencing in their backyards.

Mrs. Albert Burley Martin of Los Angeles, greeting friends while visiting her brother, John Bissman, Park avenue west. . . . Tom Mowry leaving for Camp Polka, La., after a 10-day furlough spent with Mrs. Mowry. . . . Mrs. Francis O'Brien deciding to drive to Cleveland with some friends today when rain spoiled plans for a local picnic.

West Fifth school Junior Red Cross pupils making attractive red, white and blue airplanes out of chewing gum and candy lifesavers as Memorial day favors for Mansfield General hospital patients.

The sheriff's office receiving a call from an attendant at the Longview substation of the Ohio Public Service company who reported that a 30-pound pig wandered into the station and he wanted to know what to do with it . . . Clerk P. S. Carroll of the board of county commissioners having to buy new glasses and a thermos jug after losing both articles when he fell out of a boat into Charles Mill lake on a fishing trip. He didn't catch any fish.

WASHINGTON HIT IN REPORT ON NORMANDIE FIRE

Counsel Charges Men 'Who Didn't Understand Job' Enforced Haste.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—A confidential report prepared for the senate naval affairs committee, it was learned today, asserts that "unreasonable time limitations . . . dictated in Washington" and placed upon the contractor converting the French liner Normandie into the troopship Lafayette may have been responsible for the fire which gutted the ship in New York on Feb. 9.

"It cannot be denied," the report said, "that the haste imposed upon the contractor by the bureau of ships was an important factor in the loss of the Lafayette.

"What is more important is the undisputed fact that this haste was dictated in Washington by men who evidently had no conception of the work entailed in carrying out their orders and in total disregard of contrary advice from responsible and competent men on the scene."

The report is being studied by committee members and has not been acted upon It was prepared by Committee Counsel James F. Dulligan who investigated the fire with the cooperation of the navy and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Yesterday the navy announced that the $60,000,000 vessel, which capsized after thousands of tons of water had been poured into her hold, would be salvaged in operations that will last more than a year and cost several millions of dollars.

The counsel's report to the senate committee differs sharply from the report of the naval court of inquiry which was made public April 20. The court blamed the fire on "gross carelessness" by workmen.

Dulligan in his report quoted Capt. H. Lehuede, French commander of the Normandie prior to its seizure by the United States, as asserting that the construction of the vessel made its use for war purposes "inadvisable."

His report absolved Admiral Adolphus Andrews, in command of the eastern sea frontier, from responsibility for the fire. But it found division of command and lack of clear cut responsibility surrounding the work of converting the vessel.

The senate, however, delayed confirmation of Andrews' promotion from rear admiral to vice admiral, until members could study the report.

HEADS SCHOOLS

McCullough Goes to Lucas From Union Rural.

LUCAS — J. Edward McCullough, superintendent of the Union Rural schools, will become superintendent of the Lucas village district school system at the expiration of this term, the Lucas board of education announced today.

He will succeed V. Leland Gilliland, who announced sometime ago he would retire at the end of the present term. McCullough, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. McCullough of Butler, is married and has two daughters.

A native of Butler and a graduate of Ohio State University, McCullough has been a member of the Union schools' faculty for 10 years—six as a teacher, one as principal, and three as superintendent.

REVEALS WOMEN COULD HANDLE 80 PER CENT OF KEY WAR JOBS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Disclosing that a survey of occupations in 21 key war industries indicates that 80 per cent of the jobs could be filled by women, Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt today said that development of the mobilization program may require a more general use of women to do the work of men.

The survey, made by the U. S. employment service to determine positions in which women may be successfully employed, covered 1,859 jobs in war industries and also 937 non-war occupations.

"Women have shown that they can do, or learn to do almost any kind of work," McNutt said. "Thousands already are working in jobs which have customarily been filled by men."

McNutt said that in many cases it will be necessary to train women for the work and added that free training in war production jobs is being rapidly expanded in many areas.

War industries covered by the survey are: Manufacture of aircraft and parts, air transportation and service, aluminum products, munitions manufacture, automobile, motorcycle, truck and tank manufacture, and equipment, communications, electrical machinery, firearms, industrial chemicals, iron and steel and their products, machine tools, machine models and patterns, foundries, professional and scientific instruments, railroad equipment, shipbuilding and repairing, utilities and petroleum production and refining.

Among the occupations which women are performing satisfactorily are a wide variety called for in the manufacture and assembly of parts for motors, radios, recording instruments and airplane gauges, McNutt said.

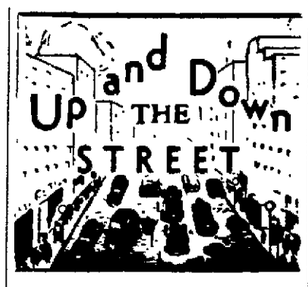
Up and Down THE STREET



A picture of marching lines of soldiers with Gerald Shutt of Mansfield, shown prominently in the ranks is being used on posters by the National USO organization in its campaign for funds. It will be reproduced in The News-Journal June 1 as the USO drive opens in Richland county. Shutt was one of the first boys to go to the army this time from the county. A number of Mansfield relatives and friends of Shutt recognized him in the picture when it first appeared in Life.

Many Mansfield youths have been swimming already this spring despite the chilly weather but most of them have gone voluntarily. However, Bruce Graves, a member of the Mansfield Order of DeMolay, had no choice in the matter. While visiting with fellow DeMolay members at the Grotto cabin on Vernon Castor's farm near the Black Fork, Graves, who was celebrating his birthday, found himself hemmed in on three sides by friends intent on giving him a birthday ducking in the Black Fork. Not waiting for them to catch up with him, he made the plunge himself.

Representatives from the Richland county Red Cross blood donor committee familiarized themselves yesterday afternoon with the operations of the Cleveland mobile blood donor unit by watching how the unit functioned at Ashland. More than 600 persons had signed for the services there and the unit's staff of 12 kept eight cots moving throughout the afternoon The Richland county committee will be in complete charge of arrangements locally when the mobile unit visits Mansfield for three days next week starting Thursday. Mrs. J. C. Gorman, Mrs. Harry Cave, Mrs Hamilton Walter and Miss Lenore Van Gundia made the Ashland visit.

Richland countains can't get accustomed to mailing letters without stamps so a number of them are placing useless two and three-cent stamps on the selective service questionnaires they mail back to their draft boards. Board clerks find stamped questionnaires in nearly every mail and often are asked by registrants if stamps are necessary. The blanks, which are official government business, can be mailed by the boards and the registrants without charge.

TAKEN BY DEATH

H. J. Haudenschild, Druggist at Loudonville, Dies.

LOUDONVILLE — A pharmacist here for 37 years, Harry J. Haudenschild, 68, died at his home Thursday following a lingering illness.

A life-long resident of Loudonville, he was a member of the Rotary club, the Chamber of Commerce, Masonic order, a member of the board of directors of the Loudonville Milling company, and former member of the Loudonville board of education.

A teacher in the rural schools before entering the pharmacy business he attended Ohio Northern university, Wooster college and Ohio State university.

Surviving are his widow, Maud, four sisters, Mrs. Marie Smith, of Mansfield, Mrs. Cleo Groff, of Perrysville, and Mrs Helen Heffelfinger and Mrs. Grace Hoffman, both of Loudonville, and three brothers, Herbert, Guy and Leroy, all of Loudonville.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p m. Sunday at the T. B Gilbert funeral home. Rev. C. H. Volpitto, pastor of the Presbyterian church will officiate. Burial will be in Loudonville cemetery.

SENATE, HOUSE CONFEREES IN FINAL TALKS

Administration Forces Are Set To Fight For $42-$48 Increase Figure.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Senate and house conferees today began final work on the Army-Navy pay increase bill, their deliberations sharpened by the first official estimate of the revised measure's cost.

As now written with a $50 starting pay for enlisted men, the war and navy departments estimated, the bill will cost something over $408,000,000 annually—based on fighting strength of last January.

Of this total, $123,321,478 represents the additional cost of the house-imposed pay increases for the lowest two grades of servicemen. By a vote of 359 to 1, the house passed the bill boosting the senate proposal of $42 for buck privates and apprentice seamen to $50 and lifting the proposed pay of first class privates and second class seamen from $48 to $54 a month.

Buck privates now draw $21 to $30, apprentice seamen $30, and first class privates and second class seamen $36.

Administration forces were prepared to fight for the $42-$48 level. How much weight the overwhelming house vote for the higher figures would carry in conference remained in doubt.

Leaders were taking into consideration the further costs of the companion dependency allowance and allotment bill, estimated to add another half-billion dollars to the war overhead. They were weighing the pay increases, too, in the light of heavy enlistments since January.

Included in the original $285,000,000 was the cost of increasing the pay of second lieutenants and ensigns from $1,500 to $1,800 a year, readjusting the pay of non-commissioned ranks through master sergeant and chief petty officer, and upping the rental and subsistence allowances for officers. Pay increases are provided also for warrant officers and nurses.

Registration to Open For Annual Scout Day Camp

Registration for the three-week Mansfield Girl Scout day camp program in Averill's woods, near the Richland county fairgrounds, will begin next week after camp folders bearing complete information about the program are distributed among the troops.

A fee of 50 cents is the only expense involved for the camp program that will be held two days a week for a period of three weeks starting Tuesday, July 7. Sessions will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. and the girls will carry their own lunch. Milk will be furnished without charge.

The campers will be divided into units according to age and the program of each unit will be based on the interests of the girls in the unit. Miss Eleanor Bond, executive secretary, will direct activities assisted by a staff of adults

Deadline for registration has been fixed for July 1. Each application must carry the parents' consent.

4 WIN PAROLES

Ashland, Crawford Youths Get O. S. R. Releases.

Principles Forbid Soldier To Wed

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

It's a question of honor with ivate D. whether he sticks to iat he grimly considers a duty whether he throws what he re- rds as principle to the winds d decides to be deliriously hap- for a few weeks—then let the ites deal what cards they will. Here's his history. He's 29 and likely to be sent overseas. Back me. Private D. is a regular oratio Alger type of hero. He t a job in a big department ore, went to night school for okkeeping, typing, stenography. d had finished second-year law the time he was drafted. Meanwhile he had met the boss' ughter, six years younger, and seems to have been a case of e at first sight. The girl's other disapproved; she had more ty ambitions for the girl. But father liked the steady pro- ess of the young man and of- ed no objections.

A year ago last January, D. was it to camp. The girl sneaked ay from home and visited him. e didn't tell her family when where she was going, and there s a regular tornado at home that account. She insisted her dier knew nothing of her pro- sed visit. She went, she said, be- use her heart so directed her. d then when this visit had tled down, she ran off and paid n another one.

Father went after her this time d suggested they be married, t the young man held back. He ought it wouldn't be fair to her. she were left a widow it would ud her girlhood, which should the most radiantly happy time life for her. That's Private D's e of the question.

WEDDING FOR TWINS

PORTLAND, Me. —(U.P.)— Polly and Claire Short, twin sisters, celebrated Valendine's day by marrying Owen and Floyd Diddle, twin brothers.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, May 23

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ALTHOUGH astuteness, public prestige or well-organized strategies may be implements of last resort, to be called upon when regular or normal tactics seem to prove futile, on the whole it may be a difficult day for putting over important projects, either of a personal or business nature. There may be all sorts of conflicts, antagonisms and treacheries, with sudden reversals as well as deep-seated sources for defeat.

Those whose birthday it is may be ready for a year in which they may have to draw on their hidden resources, exceptional talents or posibilities for strategies, intrigue and the security of public confidence or popularity, as such may be needful to combat antagonism, compose difficulties and survive sudden as well as secret blows or reversals. Shrewdness, tact as well as emotional balance and sound physical and mental condition may ultimately win over deceit, confusion and chaos.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"DON'T WORRY another second, Mrs. Graham!" Dr. Twitchell said cheerily, in what I knew was his best "bedside manner," but which I also knew was the window dressing for his great efficiency. "I'll attend to everything."

"Will it be possible for you also to be there when we arrive?" I said "Your surgical and medical services will be needed. Please tell my father that. He will understand."

"Yes, I will be on hand, and I will tell your father everything you have said. Do you know what time you will be here?"

I looked at my wrist watch, tried to strike a balance between the skill and speed proclivities of Joe and Bill, and the necessity of guarding old Professor Diswell and the wounded gangsters from too much jolting, then gave him my answer.

"Somewhere between two and three hours from now, barring accidents," I told him.

Twitchell Gives His Promise.

"I understand," he said. "I guarantee that your father and I will be ready for your arrival at two o'clock, and we will wait in readiness until you get there, no matter how long it is."

"Thank you so much," I said fervently. "And, now I must go. Good-bye."

"Good-bye," he returned. Then putting back the telephone and coming around the piled boxes into the store, I found only Mr. Branchman there, hastily putting together sandwiches from his cabinet of delicatessen meats.

"My father is holding the fort outside," he explained, "but Gus said that I was to put up sandwiches, boxes of crackers and cookies, and small bottles of soft drinks. I had to come in, but I can assure you that I heard nothing of your conversation; or if I did hear anything," he added naively, "I have forgotten it."

"I need no such assurance," I told him, smiling. "I know that you never would repeat anything you might have overheard."

Gus Always Thoughtful.

"Thank you," she said earnestly. "Now would you mind asking Gus to come in and help me out with these?"

"I'll send him right in," I said. Going out I found faithful Gus standing on the porch of the store with the elder Branchman, delivered the storekeeper's message and added a commendation for Gus.

"That was very thoughtful of you, Gus," I said. "I could do with a sandwich myself."

"Well, we started early, and we won't get back till long after dinner time," he said, "and I knew you wouldn't want to stop anywhere on the road. So I thought it would be all right with you if I got the things."

"I'm very glad you went ahead on your own," I said. "But hurry the things as fast as you can."

"I'll be right out," he replied hurrying into the store.

I walked back to my father's car, carefully skirting that occupied by the gangsters whom we had made prisoners.

Gangster Plot Thwarted

I felt reasonably certain that I had thwarted the real plot against my father's life in which the malevolent gangster had tried to use me as an agent. But I also felt that I could not bear to look again into those murderous faces until I should receive the bolstering of my courage which my father's presence always gives me.

As I opened the door of our car I saw that Jack had succeeded in getting Professor Diswell to stretch himself out on the rear seat, and had covered him with the blankets I had indicated. The old man's eyes were closed. Instead of speaking, I beckoned Jack to the door.

"Are you all ready to start?" I whispered.

He nodded. "He'll stay asleep, I think," he said, "if the starting doesn't waken him."

"I think I can manage that," I said, "and Jack—"

"Yes," he said.

"We must not waken him by talking on the way down."

He looked at me with tragic eyes.

"There is but one subject on which I wish to talk," he said; "the news you gave me just before you left the car. You have said that must wait until we are without an audience, so you may be sure of my silence for the rest of the journey."

Men Offer Opinions on Gals They Like

By MME. QUI VIVE

It occurred to your beauty reporter that it might be interesting to find out what qualities of good looks and charm appeal to men. They have definite ideas on the subject. They were not at all backward in expressing them.

Said one: "I went to a dance and met a new number. She was a cute little trick and, as we danced, her hair gave forth a sweet odor that made me hungry. Funny thing about that. I jumped to the conclusion that she had a flair for domesticity, knew how to cook. I visualized a spotless kitchen, good grub simmering on the stove, the girl in a gingham apron fluttering around. Before the evening was over I asked her what kind of perfume she used. She told me it was cinnamon pink. All was explained. I married her and, by gum, she can cook! So, it seems to me that sweet perfumes play a part in pulchritude and appeal. If a girl can select a compelling perfume, she has good taste. Good taste means that she will look well, behave prettily. There you are!"

Said the next one: "Girls are all good looking these days. What appeals to me in a girl is responsiveness—interest in what I am saying, efforts to make herself companionable."

"The first thing I notice about a woman is her hair," remarked a young fellow. "If it is dull looking, and if it is fearfully and frightfully scrambled, I make the guess that here we have an untidy young lady whose purse if a jumble of junk, whose stocking seams are crooked, who puts on buttons with safety pins instead of needle and thread. If a woman can't keep her head looking well she can't be worth much. A simple, smart hair arrangement makes an appeal to me.

You wouldn't think they'd be that observing or that they'd follow along an observation with guests and surmises, would you? We'll have to ring in our old standby; how you look depends upon what you are—character, temperament, tastes.

Here we have the offering of a middle-aged bachelor:

"The girl I like has easy, natural manners," said he. "I can't stand the show-offs. They have their special lines and work them. Everybody is wise to the fact that they're play-acting. When a girl starts slanting her eyes at me, taking on poses, I put her down as a scatterbrain. Maybe it works on young guys, I don't know.

"Ace high with me is the young lady who can go into the kitchen, scramble eggs, make coffee, sit down and laugh and chat with you, make you feel at home. If I find her good company, I don't care whether she has freckles or a turned up nose. She's my kind of a woman."

"The Authority on Authorities"

HIT HIS WEAKNESS

Part of the strategy of a military or naval commander is to strike the foe at his weakest point, and endeavor to break through there, thus nullifying the value of his strength at other places. It is likewise with the opening leader against a No Trump game. If the player at your right has proclaimed stoppers in the suit bid by your partner, that may be the one place not to hit him. That is definitely so, as a rule, if you have a holding in another suit which affords a promising lead.

Bidding of this deal went almost exactly the same at all tables of a duplicate game. Peculiarly, neither East nor West saw fit to bid the four-card spade suit, in which a perfect fit would have been found. Most of the declarers, however, made two extra tricks, as South opened the deuce of his partner's heart suit.

With the heart lead and return to the K, 11 tricks are easy, as spades and diamonds are then run, a club being given up at the end. Only one South, Andre Lord, decided that the hearts were so well stopped he would try a lead of the club 4. Four tricks in that suit, plus the heart A, set the contract, for a tremendous top score.

After North opens the bidding of this deal with 1-Diamond, what is the principal danger in an overcall of 1-Spade by East?

Use Mushroom With Kidney Stew Dinner

By BETSY NEWMAN

Today I am giving you a recipe that has found much favor in England and your family may develop a taste for it.

Today's Menu.

Kidney and Mushroom Stew
Mashed Potatoes
Squash Supreme
Celery and Carrot Sticks
Sherbet Graham Crackers
Tea or Coffee

Kidney and Mushroom Stew

2 beef, 6 veal or 9 lamb kidneys
¼ cup butter or other fat
1 tsp. minced onion
1 cup sliced mushrooms
3 Tbsps flour
⅛ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. salt
2 cups water or stock

Have kidneys split, remove membrane and tubes. Slice and soak in salted water to cover for 30 minutes. drain. Melt butter or substitute, add onion, mushrooms and kidneys, and cook over medium heat for 2 minutes. Stir in flour and seasonings, and when well blended, add water or stock, stirring until mixture thickens and boils. Cover and let simmer over very low heat 10 to 15 minutes, until kidneys are tender. Taste and add more salt if necessary. Serve on mashed potatoes, or, if you prefer, on toast, boiled rice or buttered noodles. Serves 6.

Squash Supreme.

Winter squash
1 apple
Marshmallows
Cinnamon

Cook squash as desired, boiling or steaming, season and mash. Place in buttered baking dish, cover with thin slices of apple and dot with marshmallows cut into quarters. Sprinkle with cinnamon, and reheat in slow oven until marshmallows are brown.

Sherbet.

1 egg
1 banana
Juice of 1 orange
Juice of 1 lemon
½ cup sugar
½ cup water

Beat egg lightly, add banana which has been mashed or put through a wire strainer, then the fruit juices, sugar and water. Mix and put into freezing tray of refrigerator. When sides have set stir once, then continue freezing until ready to serve. Serves 4.

Heated strained honey, flavored with mace and cloves makes a delicious topping for hot biscuits, waffles or griddle cakes.

Paul Snyder, the Mansfield high grid coach, is job-hunting for the summer.

Snyder doesn't want a job for himself. He's already got one, the same job he had last summer operating Liberty park swimming pool.

And he doesn't want just one job, he wants 30 or more, for his Tyger gridders of next fall.

And he wants tough jobs, the kind that will send his gridders back to him in shape.

He'll have young Roland Schmidt, the Simpson satellite, with him out at Liberty park. Only other Tyger to line up a tough job thus far is big Bill Snowden, center and probable team general. Bill will carry ice, along with the Duke duo, Bob Winbigler and Paul Dietzel.

Last summer the Tygers worked at the Boy Scout camp, but that job is held up this year.

"They probably can get jobs on farms this summer," I told the Tyger tutor.

"That would be just the thing," grinned Snyder, the old Mifflin farmer.

Snyder was all enthused about Coach Paul Brown's "light but fast and hard to beat" Ohio State football team of 1942 after watching the boys in action at last week-end's grid clinic and spring game at Columbus.

"They'll be a lot faster than they were last year," Snyder opined, "and this year they'll get some punting from big Horace Gillom. When that guy boots a ball you can hear it all over the north end of Columbus.

"And that Tom James is my idea of an ideal tail-back," he declared.

"Yes, he was pretty tough out here a year ago with Massillon," I agreed.

"He's just that much tougher now," was the Snyder retort.

Snyder was surprised at the success of Paul Sarringhaus' contact lenses. "I had to get right up to him before I could see he had glasses on," he reported.

Add famous funny flops by Provident Loan Girl softballers:

Marie Myers trying to jump over a small wire fence, catching a toe, and landing on her nose, and injuring a rib.

"I thought," says she, "I was clear over, but when I looked back, there was my foot, still on the other side of the fence."

Yes, in leaping fences, it is always good practice to take the feet along. They make good landing gear.

NOVA AND SAVOLD TRY AGAIN TONIGHT

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Lou Nova and Lee Savold meet tonight in a 10-round heavyweight bout expected to bring in $20,000 for the navy relief fund and nominate the next opponent of Champion Joe Louis.

The fight, scheduled for Griffith stadium last night, was postponed because of the weather.

PHILADELPHIA — Johnny Forte 127 Philadelphia, outpointed Jimmy Gilligan 127 Buffalo, N. Y. (8).

ROCHESTER N. Y.—Joe Muscato, 196 Buffalo, N. Y., knocked out Jim Robinson, 213, Cleveland (1).

Tribe Plays First Night Tilt With Browns Today.

(By Associated Press)

THE Browns have had one chance to get their owl eyes in shape and the Indians have not—but on the other hand St. Louis hasn't won a daylight game from the Tribe this season in five attempts.

That's the way things stand as they prepare to inaugurate the local night baseball season tonight in Cleveland stadium. The Indians are sending in their best pitcher, Jim Bagby. John Niggeling will oppose him.

Cleveland was glad enough to get rid of the Boston Red Sox yesterday, for Boston climbed into third place with an 8 to 3 win, its fourth triumph over the Tribe in four games. Boston swept a three-game series just after the Indians had run an early string of victories to 13.

Mel Harder was knocked out in the third inning for his third loss of the year when the visitors put on a five-run spree which sewed up the game. The Red Sox got to Harder, Joe Krakauskas and Vernon Kennedy for 14 hits.

Ted Williams' homer was the only extra base hit of the 14 safeties, his ninth round trip of the season. Coming in the fourth inning with Lou Finney aboard, it gave him four runs batted in for the game. He had singled with the bases full in the third and made a single which helped score Boston's one run in the first.

Tex Hughson, a young right-hander, held the Indians to seven hits, Roy Weatherly claiming two of them with a double and triple.

The New York Yankees seem to win their pennants by breaking the hearts as well as the backs of their rivals.

Yesterday the Chicago White Sox sent out to the mound a chunky southpaw named Ed Smith, who hadn't won a game this year and had been beaten five times. Smith pitched well, held the world champions to one run, and still they beat him. The 1-0 score was determined in the fourth inning when Smith walked Buddy Rosar with the bases loaded.

Sid Hudson pitched six-hit ball to lead the Washington Senators to a 5-2 verdict over the St. Louis Browns although his teammates almost sabotaged the job with six errors.

Phil Marchildon, looming as one of this season's finest flingers, held the Detroit Tigers to six hits as the Philadelphia Athletics hammered three pitchers for 17 blows and an 11-3 triumph that lifted the A's into fifth place. It was Marchildon's sixth win.

Only one game in the National league escaped the weather and in this the Philadelphia Phils nosed out the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 as Si Johnson bested Paul Derringer in a hurling duel.

SHUTE PICKS NELSON BUT COUNTS SELF IN

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Denny Shute, twice winner of the P. G. A. championship, picks another former champion, Byron Nelson, to capture the 1942 crown at the Absecon, N. J., Seaview course next week—but he isn't counting himself out of the running.

Shute, who was playing an exhibition match here as a warm-up for the P. G. A. test, feels that Nelson is easily the standout in the field. The Texan, now playing out of Toledo, won the crown in 1940 and was runner-up to Vic Ghezzi last year.

State Tourney Events Start

Track, Baseball, Golf, Tennis Titles Sought.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's top ranking high school athletes in track, baseball, golf and tennis compete today in the opening round of state championship contests at Ohio State university. Finals will be run off tomorrow.

Cleveland East Tech and Cleveland Heights, 1940 winner, tied for the Class A track-field title last year. Xenia Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home hold the Class B crown.

New champions are certain for both divisions in baseball, since neither of last year's winners, Cincinnati Withrow and Beaver Creek, qualified.

Upper Arlington won in golf last year and its ace, Pete Sohl, took individual honors.

These teams met today in the first round of the baseball contests:

Class A: Marion Harding vs. Middletown, Louisville vs. Greenfield, Tiltonville vs. Cleveland Holy Name, Cincinnati Western Hills vs. Columbus North.

Class B: Reading vs. Catawba, The Plains vs. Vaughnsville, Yorkville vs. Chardon, Columbus St. Charles vs. Webster Township.

Erie Tars Show Expected Form

ZANESVILLE —(AP)— The Erie Sailors are beginning to live up to pre-season touting which listed them as the team to beat in the Mid-Atlantic league.

Five days after the season opened Erie moved from the favorite spot to the cellar, where it remained until three days ago. Successive victories have advanced the Sailors to No. 4 position in the league, with six wins and eight defeats.

The team continued to hit its stride last night in downing Zanesville 2 to 1 to move ahead of Dayton in the standings.

The contest was the only game played last night.

Mad Russian Still Is Bust

But Fans Go Goo-Goo Over Cub Lou Novikoff.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLIN
(Wide World Features)

CHICAGO — Lou Novikoff, the Cubs rookie bust of 1941, hasn't done any busting this season—and that includes with his bat.

On May 4 the mad Russian was made a regular by Manager Jim Wilson and the gang took up the old chant of "in-again-out-again Lou."

Novikoff had been made a regular more times than he had come to bat, with Wilson thumbing him to the bench when he failed to produce.

He more or less won his spurs after a Sunday crowd had yelled kinks in the girders at Wrigley Field when he tapped a ninth inning single to score the Cubs' lone run of the day. Before that, Wilson's eardrums took a beating from a chorus of boos when he sent in Phil Cavaretta to pinch hit for Novikoff against a right-handed hurler.

So Wilson spoke these immortal words: "Twenty thousand fans can't be wrong. Novikoff is a regular from now on."

"That razz nearly bowled me over," vows the Cub skipper, "and then when the cheering section went wild as the kid stepped to the plate Sunday, I thought it was time to start pleasing them. Never since Dizzy Dean have I seen the fans go so goo-goo over a guy as they have the Russian."

But Wilson didn't stick long to that decision to make Lou a regular. Lou didn't hit. Novikoff may still be the "people's choice" but the manager's choice is another guy. When the Cubs are playing at home Wilson may have to appease them by putting Lou back into the line-up but on the road he'll play whom he pleases.

"I don't know what is the matter," Lou hazards, "I try very hard but nothing much happens. I think maybe I just can't hit in Chicago."

Broad-shouldered, good natured Lou, who waddles like a duck to the amusement of the crowd, is crammed with spirit despite his inability to tag the ball.

He was the most publicized rookie to break into the major leagues in years when he pulled on a Cub uniform at the start of 1941. He played in five minor leagues, leading four in hitting and ranking second in the fifth.

In 1938 at Moline of the Three-Eye league, his bats played a tune of .367; in 1939 at Tulsa of the Texas league it was .368; 1940 at Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league .363 and 1941, at Milwaukee of the American association, .370. He combed a .241 in 62 Cub games last spring.

Married and the father of two children, the mad Russian spends his off moments (and that's not all the time, please) drawing or playing the harmonica.

WINNERS TIRED

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—In what is considered the highest-scoring game ever played as a regularly scheduled contest, Niagara defeated Columbus, 209 to 10, back in 1869.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Rationalizing the rations: While the navy is pleading for more competitive athletics to toughen up prospective sailors and fliers, a good many eastern schools are scrapping their sports programs because they can't get the gas or buses to transport athletes to out-of-town games. . . . Since race hosses can't get sugar cards, a lot of them are getting the tobacco habit—and some like a chaw so well they'll reach right into their handlers' pockets for it.

Jerry Mitchell of the New York Post reports that they're sounding a new kind of "alert" in Pittsburgh since the celebrated battle of sink or swing—they bang two dishpans together and yell "Look out, Conn, here comes Jimmy Smith."

SERVICE DEPT.

Here's another reason for enlisting: Dale Rhoades, former Yakima (Wash.) high school athlete, writes home from Alaska that the trout fishing up that way is so good that 15-pounders seem to be the smallest in some places and snowshoe rabbits are so thick the air corps boys shoot them with their 45's just for practice. . . . The Camp Upton vs. Mitchel Field boxing show June 19 will have Jim Braddock, Jack Sharkey and Bob Olin as referees and Joe Louis will put on a three-round exhibition.

Pastor Campaigns For Louis Bout

NEW YORK—(AP)—You'd think a fellow who came back alive from 21 rounds with Joe Louis wouldn't try to press Lady Luck again—but Robert Pastor is still asking for more.

Tonight in Madison Square Garden, he's taking on tough Tami Mauriello at 10 p. m. to prove that he's ready, willing and able to get a third chance at the Brown Bomber.

Some 12,000 of the faithful are expected to turn out to see the match.

The gambling guys along 49th street are offering up to 7 to 1 against Mauriello's chances, despite his string of six straight knockouts in his most recent outings. This corner thinks Rapid Robert will breeze in this one.

A year ago, Mauriello was fighting for the middleweight title. Then he failed twice to take the lightheavyweight bauble from Gus Lesnevich. He's a big boy now, scaling about 180 pounds, and his chief hope seems to lie in an ability to make the most of Pastor's habit of getting tagged in the early rounds of most fights.

BADGERS BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP TIE

CHICAGO —(AP)— Wisconsin opened a two-game series with Northwestern today, needing two victories to keep in the running for a share of the Big Ten baseball championship.

The Badgers, with four wins and two defeats, will have two games with Minnesota and two with Ohio State remaining after this series. They must win all to tie Iowa, which has completed its schedule with 10 victories in 12 starts.

Russo Enters Ashland Race

Ohio Flat Track King Signs For Holiday.

ASHLAND—Promoters of the auto racing program slated for the half-mile oval of Ashland county fairgrounds Decoration day afternoon today announced the entry of Paul Russo of Kenosha, Wis., former eastern AAA champion and present defending Ohio flat track midget king. Russo entered his record-setting Maroon No. 23 Lund Offenhauser Special, one of the fastest Offenhauser-powered racers in the country.

A 28-year-old Italian, Russo made his first Indianapolis 500-mile start in 1940 but his racer broke down. Last year he was the fifth fastest qualifier of the huge field with an average of 125.217 miles per hour and finished ninth despite a bad oil leak from the start and the fact that his Leader Card Special was powered with the smallest motor in the huge field of cars that took the flag.

Johnny Wohlfeil, of Detroit, a former world record holder and ex-Michigan champion with both big cars and midgets, was the first official entry with his White No. 3 Offy in which he captured the Milwaukee 100-mile classic last Memorial day and which he has driven to four straight Ohio victories this year.

Within the next few days promoters expect definite word on the entry of several west coast aces. First of the seven races here May 30th will start promptly at 3 p. m. and one of the biggest name fields of drivers and expensive cars ever to face a starter's flag in Ohio is anticipated.

Ty Cobb Predicts Only Half Season

GREENVILLE, S. C.— (AP) — "Baseball," says the great Ty Cobb, "is on uneasy street," and war conditions may force the major leagues to suspend operations "soon after July 4th."

Cobb, retired veteran of the diamond, said today that if the war "should take a definite turn for the worse, that alone would be sufficient to alter the schedules."

Cobb, en route to his California home after visiting war production plants in the east, was quoted by Sports Editor Scoop Latimer of the Greenville News.

The former major leaguer said another disturbing outlook was the possibility of a "runaway race in either the American or National leagues, or both." This, he declared, would be difficult for the other clubs to survive under war conditions."

REISER FORCED OUT BY PULLED MUSCLE

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Pete Reiser, Brooklyn's center-fielder and leading hitter, has a pulled muscle in his side and will be unable to play for four or five days, Dr. Charles R. Weeth said today.

With Reiser's sub, Augie Galan, also out of action, either Dixie Walker or Frenchy Bordagaray will play centerfield. Reiser hurt himself during one of his vicious swings at bat. He is the National league's second leading hitter with an average of .328.

Xenia Home Athletic Star Looks for College Bid

By FRITZ HOWELL.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—One of the greatest all-around athletes in Ohio Class B high school history rings down the curtain tomorrow on his scholastic career in the state's 35th annual schoolboy track and field meet.

He's Kenneth Pitzer, spark plug and leader of the cadets of the O. S. & S. O. Home of Xenia, defending Class B champs on the cinders.

"Kenny" is six feet two inches tall, weighs 175, is the "lean, hungry and strong" type and has a 3.7 average as a student. He's going to college next year, but hasn't decided on his new Alma Mater (Coaches note).

Pitzer has been on the home's football, basketball and track-field teams for four straight campaigns. He is the only cadet in O. S. & S. O. history to win four letters in each of those sports.

He was the team's best pass receiver in football, carried the ball on end-around plays, and did the kicking. He's a left-footer, and his boots averaged around 50 yards. He made the Little Six league All-Star teams three years, and in 1941 was on the All-Ohio. The Cadets haven't been beaten in football the last two campaigns.

In basketball Pitzer was guard for two years, and center for two, topping the Cadets in scoring each year. He was a consistent member of the All-League and All-District teams, and led his mates to the state tourney this season.

In track he's an all-around performer, having won three individual "firsts" in each meet the Cadets have entered this year.

"Kenny" was developed by George Woerlin, who gave up his coaching job recently to become a lieutenant in the Naval Air Service.

Columbus Birds Begin to Click

(By Associated Press)

Growing tired of the lower roost in the American Association, the Columbus Red Birds—the team picked to win the pennant again—apparently have begun to click.

They got their first shutout of the season last night—a nine-hit 9-0 victory over Milwaukee. It was the most runs Columbus had collected since nipping Indianapolis, 11 to 4, on April 24.

All but one of the Birds' runs were scored in the fourth inning to aid Pitcher Ken Burkhart along to his nine-hit shutout.

Kansas City kept after the leading Brewers by splitting a double-header with Toledo. The Blues dropped the opener, 2-1, but swept the second, 5-3.

St. Paul's powerful hitting netted four runs in the tenth inning to nick Indianapolis, 6-3. Minneapolis cashed in on five errors by Louisville to win, 6-4.

New Musical.

"Rio Rita," a hit musical show of some years ago, lends its name to the new Bud Abbott and Lou Costello starring attraction opening Saturday at the Ohio. The production has its locale in southern Texas and revolves around two stowaways who discover enemy radios in what purports to be an innocent basket of apples. Kathryn Grayson, singing star of "The Virginian," and John Carroll supply the romantic interest. Eros Volusia, famous Brazilian dancer, makes her screen debut in the picture and introduces a number of novel rhythms including the Samba. The picture is rich with music and picturesque sets.

Ayres Thriller.

Lew Ayres' last picture before he joined the armed forces opens Saturday at the Madison. "Fingers At the Window," presents a bizarre plot in which Ayres plays a young actor who turns amateur detective. Laraine Day, a night club dancer, is menaced by an ax murderer. Thrills are introduced throughout the picture by Basil Rathbone, and the cast includes Walter Kingsford. Rudy Kipling's "Jungle Book," produced in Technicolor by Alexander Korda is the second attraction. Sabu, Rosemary DeCamp and John Qualen are in the cast.

Western Drama.

The Rough Riders, namely Buck Jones, Tim McCoy and Raymond Hatton, ride through an action-loaded western, "Arizona Bound," at the Ritz. The three appear as former United States marshalls who are called from retirement to clean up a lawless town being terrorized by outlaws. Jones takes the initiative and gunfights and hard-riding prevail. "Paris Calling," the second film, features Elizabeth Bergner, Randolph Scott and Basil Rathbone in a story as timely as today's headlines.

Lombard Picture.

The late Carole Lombard's last picture, "To Be Or Not To Be," with Jack Benny and a star cast is the attraction at the Park starting Saturday. The story concerns a group of "ham" actors in Warsaw who get mixed up with the Gestapo and are forced to play the most exciting roles in their lives or else lose their identity altogether. Robert Stack and Stanley Ridges are among the players. "Sing Your Worries Away," the second picture, has Bert Lahr, June Havoc and Alvino Rey's band.

Tarzan Adventure.

"Tarzan's Secret Treasure," with Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan is the attraction at the Majestic. Bill Elliott and Tex Ritter are co-featured in "North of the Rockies," the second picture.

2—Card of Thanks

WE WISH to extend our heartfelt thanks to our many relatives, friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us during the sickness and death of my husband and our father, John Hugel, to Msgr. Goebel for his consoling words and G. B. U. Central World War Power Veterans, the Working Men's Beneficial Union, to all those who sent flowers and to the Geiger Funeral Home for their wonderful courtesy.
MRS. JOHN HUGEL.
MR. ANTON HUGEL.
AND FAMILY. (C-K)

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone. Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need

COME TO THINK OF IT — YES
MR. BRANNER—THE MAN WAS WEARING GLASSES
NOW THAT'S SOMETHING — WHAT KIND OF GLASSES?
THE REGULAR KIND—SIR—ONE OVER EACH EYE

POPEYE—"Willing to Kiss and Make Up."

I ASSUME YOUR ATTACK WAS A SUCCESS?
YAS, I SINKED THEIR BIGGEST WARSHIP
OH, GOODY !!
BOOM
HAH! THEY ARE ANGRY WIT' ME
OKAY, WE GOT AMINGNITION
BEG PARDON, WE HAVE AMUNITION, BUT NO CANNON
WHA'S AT GOT TO DO WIT' IT?
W'EN I GETS THE CORRECK AIM I WANTCHA TO TAP 'AT CAP
WHO, ME?
G'WAN AN' TAP THE CAP, WHATCHA WAITIN' FOR?
THE ENEMY HAS CEASED FIRING - PERCHANCE THEY ARE NO LONGER ANGRY

PAM—Explanation! By A. W. Brewerton

Y'SEE, DOUG HAD BEEN SUCH A NICE LAD, EVERY ONE LIKED HIM. IT HAS ALWAYS PUZZLED ME WHAT HAD CHANGED HIM INTO SUCH A-AN UNLIKABLE MAN.
WELL, DOCTOR TAYLOR HAD IT ALL DOPED OUT 'FORE I WENT TO THE HOSPITAL. HE ASKED ME, RIGHT OFF, TO TELL HIM ABOUT SOME ACCIDENT DOUG HAD HAD LONG AGO! WELL, THAT GOT ME! THEN, FINALLY, I RECALLED DOUG HAD BEEN HURT VERY BADLY PLAYING FOOTBALL AT COLLEGE— KICKED IN THE HEAD!
Y'SEE, WE WENT TO DIFFERENT COLLEGES--I WAS GOING IN FOR LAW.' HIS UNIVERSITY WAS FAR AWAY AND I DIDN'T HEAR ABOUT HIS INJURY FOR SOME TIME. THEN I HEARD HE WAS RECOVERING. BUT, EVIDENTLY, THAT INJURY LEFT HIM WITH A BRAIN PRESSURE OF SOME KIND THAT CHANGED HIS WHOLE NATURE, HIS LINE OF REASONING!
DOCTOR TAYLOR COULD TELL FROM HIS EXAMINATIONS--X-RAY AND SO ON--THAT CARSON HAD FORMERLY SUFFERED THAT BRAIN INJURY--AND, THEN, THIS CRACK YOU GAVE HIM RELIEVED IT, RIGHTED IT!
OH, IT SOUNDS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE!

MARKET RALLY FALTERS WITH PRICES MIXED

Weekly Retail Dollar Trade Fails to Show Increase Over Last Year.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market rally of Thursday faltered somewhat in today's early proceedings and prices generally were a shade mixed.

At a quiet opening modest improvement was registered for Kennecott, Consolidated Edison, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Loew's, Woolworth and International Nickel. Down a trifle were Santa Fe, Great Northern, Chrysler, Johns-Manville, Boeing and Goodrich.

The Dun & Bradstreet survey disclosed that, for the first time in 1942, weekly retail sales dollar volume failed to maintain an increase over last year. For the country as a whole this week's total was placed at 1 to 4 per cent under the comparable 1941 figure. Widespread price ceilings were thought to have stemmed the buying rush which began several months ago.

ORDINANCE NO. 42-94

By Mr. Kyle

An ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of Bartley Avenue from Parkview Street to Cline Avenue by grading the street to the established grade and paving the roadway with concrete brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage etc., and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for said improvement

Be It Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio Three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring.

Sec. 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Bartley Avenue from Parkview Street to Cline Avenue by grading the street to the established grade and paving the roadway with concrete, brick block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers storm drainage etc., in accordance with Resolution No. 42-49 passed March 10, 1942 and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

Sec. 2. That all claims for damages resulting therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after completion of the proposed improvement

Sec. 3 That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections and one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits which may result from the improvement upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, and the remaining portion of the cost of said proposed improvement shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of Bartley Avenue as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law Eighteen thousand three hundred ($18,300 00) Dollars of Street Assessment Bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio in denominations of from fifty to one thousand dollars each, payable in from one to five years and bearing interest at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor, payable semi-annually.

That to provide a fund to pay that portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield Ohio, to-wit: six thousand six hundred dollars ($6 600 00) to be taken from the Registration Fee Fund.

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid and to no other purpose whatsoever.

An annual levy shall be made during the term of said bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the same and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption as they mature.

Sec. 4. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined. All the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on Bartley Avenue between Parkview Avenue and Cline.

Sec. 5. That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof, together with the moneys received, if any, from the cash payments of assessments, shall be placed in the City Treasury; the accrued interest and premiums shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund, and the remaining portion of the purchase price of said bonds shall be placed to the credit of Bartley Avenue improvement fund and disbursed upon proper vouchers in payment of the cost and expense of the improvement aforesaid, and all moneys coming into said Bartley Avenue improvement fund are hereby appropriated for the purpose of said disbursements.

Sec. 6. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids and to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder, according to law.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed May 5, 1942.
Attest: R. R. BLACK, Clerk of Council.
Signed: HOWARD G. MILLER, President of Council.
Approved: W. J. LOCKE, Mayor.

tween escorting destroyers, launched torpedoes against a battleship of the Maryland class from a distance of several hundred yards.

"The battleship was hit in the bows and sank in a short time.

"There was no reaction by escorting vessels."

The communique asserted the battleship was sunk at 8:50 a. m. (EWT) Wednesday.

(Editor's Note—Obviously, it was impossible for the Italian submarine to have returned to any home base. Therefore the Italian communique, if it had the least semblance of truth, must have been based upon a wireless report. Warships at sea traditionally silence their radios in order that their positions will not be revealed to enemy forces.)

Battleships of the Maryland class displace about 32,000 tons. They are 600 feet long and carry three catapult-launched aircraft, eight 16-inch guns and twelve 5-inch guns.

Dangerous Killer Picks Lock, Flees State Hospital

DAYTON —(AP)— Termed "very dangerous," an accused kidnap-killer — George Colley, 22, alias "the Candy Kid"—was at liberty today after escaping from the Dayton State hospital.

Awaiting observation to determine his sanity, Colley fled down a fire escape last night, Dr. E. L. Hooper, hospital superintendent, said the prisoner broke a lock on the door of his third-floor room.

Indicted for first degree murder in the 1937 holdup slaying of Harry Miller, Colley also was charged with kidnaping and attempted extortion.

The fugitive was ruled insane and committed to the New York State hospital after a 1938 robbery shooting in that state. Since he was a West Virginia native, Colley was transferred to the West Virginia State hospital. Authorities subsequently declared him sane, opening the way for his removal to Ohio three weeks ago.

Arrest Motorist — Fred H. Reinhart, 344 Wayne street, was arrested last night by Mansfield police on a charge of speeding. Police said that Reinhard was driving more than 45 miles an hour on Lexington avenue near Cline. He will be arraigned in municipal court Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

Pleads Guilty — Jesse Carrick, Mansfield, pleaded guilty to a non-support charge when arraigned in municipal court this morning and was bound over to await action of the Richland county grand jury on $1,500 bond. Carrick was arrested yesterday in Cleveland by Mansfield police upon the complaint of his wife, Mary Francis Carrick.

SPIES LAND ON COAST OF MAINE

of 21 lives, including five members of a gun crew, said:

"The sub never did appear, which leads me to believe that someone tipped them off as to our sailing date—they knew the name of the ship, came after us, and got us."

The ship captain, who is now in a Marine hospital at Galveston, Tex., recovering from injuries, said it was the custom of sub commanders to surface and ask the name of a sinking ship. This sub commander, however, the captain said, never surfaced to ask any questions because he already knew the answers.

The attack, which occurred at 10:41 p. m., on May 16, came so suddenly that the first warning was given by a lookout who spotted a torpedo only 75 feet away. The seaman shouted a warning, but before the ship could turn about, the torpedo struck directly under the bridge. A half minute later a second torpedo struck the vessel—this one crashing and exploding in the engine room.

It was in this initial explosion that most of the casualties occurred. The vessel sank within a minute and a half and many of those trapped below never had a chance to even jump into the sea.

Those who survived did so by managing to get off on to two life rafts. After the ship went down and the survivors got aboard the rafts, Capt. Rowe waited four hours until it was finally determined no more could be saved.
